

We Were Dampened But Not Damaged

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON

A predicted northeaster veered out to sea early this morning leaving Ulster County with a wet face but none of the damage experienced in southern Atlantic Coastal areas.

The Sunday rains dumped up to 1.8 inches of much needed moisture on the county. Lingering showers are expected to continue through Election Day with temperatures in the middle 40's and low 50's.

In Kingston, 1.07 inches of rain fell through this morning. Other areas in the county recorded approximately an inch of rain during the storm period. Heavy showers were noted during the early evening hours. Almost equal to October.

Norwood Locke of the city engineer's office noted that the Nov. 2 and 3 rainfall was almost equal to entire month of October. A total of 1.23 inches of precipitation fell during last month including extra early snow flurries.

At Cooper Lake Reservoir, 1.8 inches of rain fell. Gene Pette of the Kingston City Water Department reported from the scene that the ground was so dry the rain did not even raise stream levels. The reservoir was down four and a half feet prior to the storm.

There were no reports of flooding or other storm damage in the city.

The rain came on the heels of a week of record-breaking overnight lows and heavy frosts. The combination served to strip much of the fall foliage and beat down the remains of late blooming chrysanthemums. Temperatures stayed relatively mild throughout the storm, hovering around the low 50's mark.

Dire Predictions

Early predictions prepared New Yorkers for a wild late autumn storm replete with high winds and heavy rains.

However, the storm changed course this morning after causing severe damage along the Carolina Coast and into New Jersey. The gale-force winds and heavy rains headed out to sea just missing the New York metropolitan area and leaving fringes of the storm area with a continuing light rain and drizzle.

High tides whipped up by the force of the storm did much of the coastal damage in the Carolinas. Piers and some homes were endangered by the high water and at Folly Beach, S.C. severe erosion occurred.

The Coast Guard is searching for a 120 foot tugboat, The Marjorie McAllister en route from New York City to Jacksonville, Fla. The tug, with a six-man crew, radioed it was near Cape Lookout, N.C. and taking on water. The Coast Guard also listed the crew of a yacht from Groton, Conn., found adrift Sunday off Cape May, N.J. as missing.

Snow for Many

While 36 states reported rain today, the Rocky Mountain areas which got record snow last month received another pelting. Up to 19 inches of new snow fell in New Mexico, Texas, Colorado and Wyoming. The snow hampered search for a missing plane in Colorado and was blamed for traffic deaths in Colorado and New Mexico.

A rainy Sunday is really not so bad when compared with which plagued the rest of the plagued the rest of the country. Tradition has it that rain on Election Day favors the Democrats while sunny day denotes a Republican victory at the polls.

Tomorrow's weather forecast doesn't do a thing to help the vote analysts. Probability of rain Tuesday is put at 30 per cent with mostly cloudy and a little cooler the word for Election Day.

And for the day after the vote, Wednesday will be more variable cloudiness and scattered showers regardless of who wins.

Rondout Gardens Welcomes New Tenants

Rondout Gardens in Broadway East is ready for full occupancy, according to Alexander Yosman, director of the Kingston Housing Authority. The $2,000,000 project consists of 131 low income units, including apartments for senior citizens. The new apartments were turned over to the Authority on Saturday. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

North Viet Forces Launch New Attacks; 3 Bases Evacuated

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces launched new attacks in South Vietnam's Central Highlands today after driving allied troops from three U.S. artillery bases at the opposite end of the region. American Special Forces officers said the loss of the bases was a "major success" for the enemy.

While U.S. and South Vietnamese troops along the Cambodian border in the southern part of the highlands braced for renewed North Vietnamese assaults, the enemy struck nearly 200 miles to the northeast, along the coastal region of the northern Central Highlands.

Some 200 North Vietnamese infantrymen and commandos launched coordinated assaults on two artillery bases of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade north of the provincial capital of Bong Son.

Rocket Fire

Firing rocket grenades, machine guns and rifles, the attackers pushed their way to the barbed wire perimeters of the two bases before American artillery drove them back. The U.S. Command said at least two enemy soldiers penetrated the perimeter of one base but were killed or repulsed. The bodies of others were found in the barbed wire around the second base.

Headquarters said 26 North Vietnamese were killed in the two attacks. U.S. casualties were one killed and eight wounded, the command said.

Light rocket and mortar attacks were launched against other allied bases in the highlands, including the headquarters of a brigade of the U.S. 4th

Infantry Division at An Khe, 260 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

American officers in the field told Associated Press correspondents Peter Arnett they believe the series of attacks in the highlands presage a large military campaign in the region, probably focused on the two important Special Forces camps of Bu Prang and Duc Lap, near the Cambodian border and at the southwest corner of the highlands.

An uneasy quiet fell over the two frontier camps 110 and 135 miles northeast of Saigon after a weekend North Vietnamese onslaught that forced abandonment of the three artillery bases in the Bu Prang region.

The retreating garrisons regrouped in a Green Beret camp that American sources said could be attacked at any time by strong North Vietnamese forces massed along the border. At least 11 Americans were killed and 40 wounded in a series of North Vietnamese attacks. Three helicopters were shot down, three U.S. 105mm howitzers destroyed and several trucks shot up.

Initial reports put South Vietnamese losses at one killed, 17 wounded and two missing.

Forty-four North Vietnamese were reported killed.

Informed sources said they believe the North Vietnamese are trying for a psychological victory and that the weekend's activity is part of "the stepping-up process."

Abandoned Bases

The three artillery bases were abandoned after two of them came under North Vietnamese artillery and ground attacks.

About 600 Americans and South Vietnamese threatened with being overrun fled to the nearby Bu Prang Special Forces camp about 120 miles northeast of Saigon.

Bu Prang itself was bombarded Sunday by enemy artillery said to be firing from inside Cambodia. Ground probes were launched against the camp's perimeter. A large-scale North Vietnamese assault had been anticipated overnight, and a U.S. fighter-bomber dropped tons of bombs outside the camp to discourage the enemy from massing for an attack.

The three artillery bases and the Special Forces camp formed a diamond with Bu Prang at the top. The bases were set up a few months ago to provide an artillery blanket in the frontier region for allied forces checking North Vietnamese infiltration into South Vietnam.

U.S. sources said there was a "large enemy buildup along the Cambodian border" and the bases had been under heavy pressure all week, but the coordinated attacks came as a surprise.

Little action was reported elsewhere in Vietnam.

Nixon's Speech and the Speculation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon takes his Vietnam case to the nation tonight amid fresh speculation over the possibility of a sizeable step-up in U.S. troop withdrawals.

In advance of Nixon's much-heralded 9:30 p. m. EST radio-TV address Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan said "It is perfectly possible that all American combat forces can be withdrawn from Vietnam by July 1, 1970."

In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky was quoted as saying that "next year the (South Vietnamese) armed forces will be able to replace about 180,000 U.S. soldiers."

Ky predicted "nothing new" about Nixon's speech while Ford, addressing a Phoenix, Ariz., group, declined to speculate further on it. Nixon so far has announced troop pullbacks totaling about 60,000 by Dec. 15, a 10,000-a-month withdrawal which would reduce the U.S. strength figure in Vietnam to 484,000.

The President himself maintained tight silence about the forthcoming speech and prolonged his weekend stay in seclusion at his fog-shrouded Camp David, Md., mountain retreat while working on it.

Originally slated to return to the White House Sunday, Nixon put off his helicopter flight back to Washington until today.

The original White House announcement of the speech just before the Oct. 15 Vietnam moratorium protests, its timing to night on election eve and approximately one year after the Nov. 1, 1968, halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, and the secrecy surrounding its preparation have led to wide speculation that a new Nixon move on Vietnam is in the offing.

"Great hopes and expectations are riding on this speech," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said during the week-end. "I'm just living on a hope and a prayer that he will offer the American people and the Congress some light at the end of the tunnel."

But despite numerous recommendations for the policy speech which Nixon has solicited from his top advisers and government departments, many Washington officials doubted the President would depart substantially from the course he has charted.

Gradual U.S. disengagement based on Saigon's ability to take over more of the load, a lowered level of combat or progress in the Paris negotiations.

Senior administration authorities have contended the South Vietnamese are making so much progress toward taking over the war effort that the only way the enemy can win now is through a too-rapid U.S. pull-out forced by U.S. public opinion.

Thus the Nixon address, as they see it, is primarily to win the battle on the home front against protestors demanding that America should get out of Vietnam now.

As the Nixon speech approached, both supporters and critics of administration policy gathered ammunition and congressmen readied for another round of debate.

In the House, 42 Congressmen issued a statement that they hoped Nixon's address "will make a substantial contribution to the early end of American involvement in the war." They planned a House debate Wednesday on the President's remarks.

In the Senate Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., put off scheduled Foreign Relations Committee hearings on Vietnam policy pending the speech.

The committees which organized the Oct. 15 rallies went ahead with plans for more massive antiwar demonstrations in mid-November.

But cheering news for the White House also came from various quarters.

A public opinion poll released over the weekend showed the President supported in his Vietnam policy by 58 per cent of Americans, compared with 52 per cent before the Oct. 15 demonstrations.

65,620 on County Vote Lists, Up 3,624 From Total in 1967

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

A surprising 3,624 more Ulster County residents are registered to vote in Tuesday's election than voted in the similar city-county races of two years ago.

Of these, the majority (over 3,000) are in the county and the balance in the city.

In 1967, there were 61,996 registrants. Today there are 65,620. Of these, 13,487 are city registrants.

Ulster County is not alone among the counties of the state to report an increase. Statewide there are an additional 252,702 persons registered than in 1967. Women registrants continue to outnumber men in the state and in all counties except Tioga with Ulster having 2,358 more women voters than men.

Here in Ulster County, the most significant increases in the number of registered voters in the various towns are found in Saugerties where there are 409 new registrants, in the Town of Ulster with 433, in Woodstock with 386 and in Esopus with an additional 232. Marletown has an increase of 139.

Because of redistricting of the city wards during the past two years, it is impossible to compare the number of registrants by wards.

Heading the city-wide races is the three-way mayoral ticket with Democrat-Liberal Francis R. Koenig; Republican James J. Tyrrell and Conservative Bernard Singer each vying for the job.

City voters will also choose between Democrat incumbent City Judge Hubert A. Richter and Republican Thomas F. Saccaman (R-Con.), and will select an alderman-at-large from a field of three. They are incumbent Democrat T. Robert Gallo, (D-Liberal) and Republican Burton Davis and Conservative Worthington Rider.

City resident also will select 13 aldermen to represent their wards and will choose eight county legislators at-large to represent the city.

Joining with county voters, the Kingston residents also will select a county clerk and coroner. Incumbent Republican County Clerk Albert Spada seeks a second term and is opposed by Democrat Dr. Willis Raff and Janice Schoonmaker, a Conservative. (Rep-Con) incumbent Republican Coroner William S. Keyser is being opposed by Democrat Myron Kutcher.

County residents additionally will choose various numbers of legislator candidates to represent their districts and will elect officials to various town posts.

All voters are also asked to vote on four amendments to the New York State Constitution.

Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo reported this week that 7,916,789 persons are registered to vote over the state.

The registration total is down by 192,470 from the 8,109,259 registered in this state to vote in the Presidential election last year but 252,702 higher than the 1967 off-year registration of 7,664,087.

High Woods Navy Man Killed, Three Injured in 9W Mishap

By WALTER S. CLARK

SAUGERTIES

A spectacular traffic accident in which a car traveled out of control more than 350 feet before it slammed into a tree off Route 9W north of Glasco Turnpike at 3 a.m. Sunday, took the life of a 23-year-old Navy man and injured three other persons.

Killed in the crash was James Rustad, High Woods, Town of Saugerties, the driver of the vehicle. Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser said Rustad died of massive internal injuries and multiple fractures of the skull.

In other area traffic fatalities over the weekend, 22-year-old Franklin Hundley Jr., of Main Street, Glenham, Dutchess County, was killed in a one car accident on Route 52 in Fishkill.

Kingston State Police reported the three passengers in Rustad's car were 16-year-old Irene Sickler of Lindermann Avenue, Sheila Sickler, 21, same address and William Beechel, 21 of Katrine Lane. They were taken to a hospital in Kingston in private cars.

Rustad was removed to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance. None of the survivors of the accident was reported critically hurt. Sheila Sickler reportedly sustained severe injuries of the shoulder and lacerations.

According to troopers, Rustad accompanied by his friends, was traveling south on Route 9W at an apparent high speed and negotiating a left downgrade curve when he lost control. Measurements taken at the scene by state police showed the car crossed the highway, traveled 150 feet, veered to the northbound traffic lane and went 135 feet before the car careened off the west shoulder, plowed through a utility pole and continued on for about 80 feet before it crashed through an advertising billboard and struck a tree.

An attendant on Fatum's ambulance said it took about two hours before Rustad was extricated from the wreckage by troopers and attendants.

State Police said the car was equipped with safety belts but they were not used by the occupants of the vehicle.

Authorities noted that Rustad had been stationed at a Navy Base in Rhode Island.

The fatality was investigated by BCI Investigator Fred Cooper, Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes and Troopers Carl Van Wagenen, Robert Malloy, W. T. Wilson and Joseph Ingalls. Coroner Keyser also was at the scene to investigate the county's 43rd traffic fatality of 1969.

The Saugerties Flag Incident--- Even Students Want the Answer

By ALBERT CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES
Students at Saugerties High School are organizing a demonstration to be held at the school to impress officials that there is a need for a complete disclosure regarding the alleged desecration of the American Flag in a social studies classroom.

The students want to know the real truth and why a teacher who was popular with the students was summarily dismissed, paid off his 30 days required notice and told to leave. School officials have put a tight lid on information about the incident. Superintendent of Schools Dexter O. Arnold added more fuel to the widening spread of rumors about the incident by refusing to permit a Freeman reporter to look at the minutes of a special Board of Education meeting held Wednesday at which time the social studies teacher, David Roach of Kingston was fired with no cause of dismissal given.

The minutes of a Board of Education meeting are public record and should have been ready for public inspection three days after the meeting when the reporter appeared at the school's administration building, it was learned.

An eyewitness account of a student in the actual classroom indicates that a 19-year-old parttime student brought in a poster using a field of stars alleged to have been cut from an American Flag. The poster was displayed in the social studies class of Roach for more than a month and during the interim the word "Peace" was inserted in the field of stars.

The teacher with or without the knowledge of the flag desecration permitted the poster to be displayed and this presumably was the cause of his dismissal. However, this could not be confirmed with school officials who refused to explain any of the circumstances.

Widely circulated reports that the poster was a North Vietnamese flag and that some of the students saluted it in the classroom in the teacher's presence were denied by the Freeman. He said the poster with other posters on the classroom walls was displayed for more than a month before the furor started. No one seemed to know how it had been determined that the stars came from an American Flag. The eyewitness said that most of the students in the social studies class were puzzled and surprised when reports from the outside reached them.

Roach had been in the Saugerties Central School system for three years, and according to several students at the school incident is facing expulsion from school. Dismissal of the teacher reportedly came about on a recommendation from the superintendent of schools at the Wednesday special session of the board. An official source also advised this reporter that the incident had been reported to the Officer of the Commissioner of Education in Albany. The student demonstration is in the organizational stages and no date has been set for the "peaceful massing of students" designed to demand a complete disclosure of the incident by school officials.

The 'Cruellest' Halloween --- Blade in a Rhinebeck 'Treat'

RHINEBECK
A report that a Rhinebeck village youth was given an apple with a razor blade embedded in it as a Halloween treat has been added to scattered reports of "bobby trapped" candy from throughout the upstate region.

State Police at Rhinebeck are investigating the apple incident today, but declined to give the youth's name or whether the child was injured by the blade.

They asked the parents to check all fruit given to children for Halloween treats, to be on the lookout for razor blades, sharp pins and glass. Ulster County authorities have not reported complaints of bobby trapped treats, but also they urged parental inspection of Halloween treats.

Downtown Man Charged With Assault, 2nd

KINGSTON
Sheriff's deputies arrested William Fred Reinhardt, 22, of 71A, Rondout, Kingston, this morning and charged him with assault, second degree.

The charge arises out of the alleged assault with glass on Joan Baxter, of 72 Clinton Avenue at the Pleasure Yacht Tavern, Eddyville. The woman is alleged to have been hit in the eye.

Reinhardt was arraigned today before Ulster Town Justice Sherwood Davis and was released on $250 bail to await a hearing Friday at 1:30 p.m. Sheriff Deputies Edward Van Gieson and Donald Van Aken made the arrest.

Reports filtered in from other upstate areas, according to United Press International, who said one Syracuse policeman called the trick or treat night "one of the cruellest Halloween of all."

Finds in candy and fruit collected by unsuspecting children included a piece of chocolate with a razor blade embedded in it, a piece of glass in some soft candy, sharp pins in apples and at least 50 other complaints from the Onondaga County area.

Included in the reports was that of a daughter of a Syracuse Mayor William F. Wash who was given a piece of chocolate with a razor blade hidden inside.

Syracuse authorities said they were narrowing down the neighborhood where incidents occurred and hoped to make some arrests. Complaints also came from North Syracuse, Liverpool, Camillus and Brewerton.

No children have been reported injured in the Syracuse area from the bobby traps that have been found by trick-or-treaters still sifting through their apparently harmless bags of candy and fruit.

One child, William Wilcox, age 7, was treated in Troy hospital after he was cut on the hand Sunday as he apparently squeezed a candy treat containing a piece of glass.

The strangest report of all the Halloween incidents was an upstate youth who opened a small paper bag and found inside what police determined were birth control pills, said UPI.

4 Hurt, One Cited In Kingston Crash

KINGSTON — Four persons were injured shortly before 2:30 a.m. Sunday in a two-car collision at Spring and Wurts Streets, and police cited a motorist for passing a stop sign. In another mishap in the city a 29-year-old man was seriously injured.

Involved in the Spring and Wurts Street crash were cars operated by Conrad M. Moore, 23, of 173 Hoyt Street, Port Ewen, and Willie L. Taylor, 26, of Box 234 Hurley Mt. Road, Hurley. Police reported Moore whose address was also listed as Richmond Parkway in the Police report, received facial lacerations and contusions of the forehead.

The Delhi woman and Benchof were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance. The Moores were removed to the same hospital by Doctor's Ambulance.

Shortly before 3 a.m. Sunday, Francis P. Burke, 29, whose address was listed as 625 Otis Street, was seriously injured when his car went out of control and crashed into a utility pole at Flatbush and Foxhall Avenues. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance. A police report listed Burke's injuries as lacerations of the nose and chest injuries. The impact snapped a wire leading to a fire alarm box on the pole.

Papers Oppose Choice in RV

HIGH FALLS, N.Y. — Donald Ross of High Falls has filed legal papers against the Rondout Valley Central Board of Education charging that he was "injured" when the board selected a new board member based on "geographic representation."

Ross challenged the appointment of Samuel Cohen of Kerhonkson, named by the RVC board in September to replace George Stockin who retired during the summer.

He charged that the board used "a gentlemen's agreement" to seek members, based on geographic needs rather than on an "at-large basis," adding that no legal support for the agreement exists.

Process servers sought out board of education clerk John Basten, board attorney Thomas Plunket and the new member, Samuel Cohen late last week, said Ross.

The board of education is required to answer the charge this week.

Ross told The Freeman that the four-man committee of the board formed to select a new member was made up of one man from Accord and three from Kerhonkson, including Cohen himself.

It's a Routine Day at Vassar With the 7-Point Agreement

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (UPI)—Monday classes symbolized a return to routine for a Vassar campus where little agitation was visible for the past several days, despite occupation of part of the administration building.

Thirty-one black and two white coeds gave up their occupation late Saturday when college officials came to an agreement with them on a seven-point plan to answer Negro demands. Ten black males, who kept unwanted visitors out of the building since the occupation began Thursday, had left their posts.

Throughout the occupation, classes went on as usual. On Saturday, many of the students left the campus for the weekend, and the vigil outside Main Hall was composed mostly of reporters and news cameramen.

Dr. Alan Simpson, Vassar president, and Orville H. Schell Jr., vice president of the 25-member board of trustees, met Saturday night with the coeds and an agreement was reached to end the 44-hour sit-in.

The seven points of agreement include allowing blacks to live in "contiguous residential space" in dormitories, Simpson and Schell said they could not commit the college to assigning a single dormitory for the exclusive use of black students because of "educational and legal reasons."

Other points included an increase in the number of black professors, an increased budget, as well as credit and letter grades, for black studies courses.

The biggest excitement generated among the non-occupiers was a debate Thursday by about 500 white students outside the four-story building. Most of the speakers expressed general sympathy for the blacks. A few objected to the sit-in, saying the demand for an all-black dormitory—not accepted by the administration—was racist.

Vassar has 59 black females out of 1,600 students. All of the Negro women in the building were on scholarships given members of low income families who would normally not be able to meet the financial expenses of what is generally considered an "exclusive" school.

Other colleges in New York State that are primarily for women, including Skidmore, Wells and the College of St. Rose in Albany, have attracted some racial minority group members. As at Vassar, trouble was not expected.

At Skidmore, in Saratoga Springs, a spokesman said there is no current dispute with the approximately 25 black females out of 1,750 students.

"I'm no prophet," the spokesman said. "It can happen here, but right now there is no reason to think so."

Wells College, in the Finger Lakes village of Aurora, has 12 black women out of 630 total students. A spokesman said of officials "work closely" with the students and there are "no visible problems."

At St. Rose, an official said race.

ESOPUS — ROSENDALE

Will Counter The Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Groups saying they speak for the nation's "silent majority" are emerging in an effort to counter a second round of massive antiwar protests planned this month against President Nixon's Vietnam policies.

Encouraged by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's increasingly harsh attacks on the antiwar movement, organizations from California to small towns in New York have joined in efforts to show that most Americans back the President's course.

Mid-November's scheduled antiwar demonstrations will be preceded by such pro-Nixon events as a veterans-inspired "Freedom Rally" in Washington Nov. 11 and a "National Confidence Week" beginning Nov. 10. And President Nixon, whose efforts to end the war are at issue, speaks tonight in a review of the Vietnam situation some say is designed to take the initiative from his policies' detractors.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, a key Nixon confidant, added Sunday he feels even stronger about the dissidents than Agnew.

Mitchell was interviewed on the NBC radio and television program "Meet the Press."

The Nov. 11 Freedom Rally is jointly sponsored by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. It includes a gathering at the Washington Monument following Veterans Day ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery.

National Confidence Week was conceived by a Clinton, N.Y., housewife who said the antiwar sentiment "is growing out of hand." She hopes Americans will leave porch and automobile lights burning day and night to show support for Nixon.

In California, a coalition of veterans' groups is promoting a nationwide counter demonstration timed to coincide with the Nov. 13-15 plans by the Vietnam Moratorium Committee and the New Mobilization Committee, prime architects of the antiwar movement.

The New Mobilization Committee predicts a turnout for its Nov. 15 grand finale in Washington of more than a quarter of a million people.

The Moratorium Committee, the force behind last month's Moratorium Day movement, is concentrating on a two-day series of grass-roots demonstrations and seminars across the country.

City Political Leaders Have Optimistic Viewpoints

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
Political party chairmen are supposed to be optimistic around election time and Kingston's four chairmen ran true to form.

Democrat Leader Thomas R. Lyle sees his forces maintaining their hold on city hall and picking up ground in the county legislature.

Lyle ties the success of the entire ticket with the performance of its mayoral candidate, Francis R. Koenig. "If Frank runs strong," he said, "the entire ticket could be swept in with him."

Lyle also pointed out that the Democrats have the advantages of incumbents in the Common Council, a 12-1 edge. As for the 11th seat, the Second Ward, now held by Republican John Machione, Lyle said, "We have a lot of confidence in Daniel Cronan (Machione's Democratic opponent)."

"Dan's worked hard up there. You'll see the results on Election Day."

The county legislature is another story. "It's always tough for the Democrats running city wide," Lyle said. "But we've got some good candidates this year. I think we'll pick up a few more seats."

Lyle is one of those candidates running for the county legislature. "I wish I could have spent more time campaigning. I feel confident of victory."

Melvin Mones, the Republican chairman, sees his party picking up several seats in the Robert Hardwick, the Common Council. "People don't servative chairman, sees his go for this 12-1 setup," he said, party as a force of the future. "There'll be changes this year."

As for the legislators, Mones says, "Our guys have done a to be something to contend with good job and have sponsored before too long. People are beginning to realize what's been going on with those other two parties."

Mones is one of the "guys." "I never underestimate my opponents," he said. "Of course harder says, 'It's been no one figures they're going to lose. Its just like a guy in combat. He says it can't happen to him.'"

Mones also sees the party's hard and the reactions has been candidate for judge, Thomas F. gratifying. I'm going to stay in S a c c o m a n, "running very politics. Why shouldn't I? We're the party of the future."

"The top of the ticket? The Freeman was unable to reach Liberal Party Chairman Ronald F. Woods for comment."

County Chairmen Predict Strong Election Day Showing

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
Ulster County's three political party county chairmen, confident that their candidates will make a good showing Nov. 4 have made a few predictions as to the outcome of Tuesday's county-wide races.

Democrat Aaron E. Klein, who previously said he wouldn't concede a single Republican victory in the city election, also sees possible county legislator wins in District 7 (Rosendale-Esopus) and in District 10 (Wawarsing) where he said the residents are ready to vote Democratic again.

"Not so," countered Republican chairman Albert Spada who stated that he can see very little change in the 28-5 ratio of Republicans to Democrats in the County Legislature.

"We are very strong in Wawarsing and I don't see any loss of legislators in District 9 or 12 either," Spada said. District 9 includes Plattekill, Shawangunk, Lloyd and Marlboro. District 12 takes in Woodstock.

Conservative Chairman Harry Hoffman, who is a candidate for county legislator from District 1 (Saugerties), speaking on the county-wide level, said that incumbent William S. Keyser, who is a Republican-Conservative candidate for corner, will win. "Of course," as will Spada, who is also seeking reelection as county clerk on the Republican ticket.

Volunteering his thoughts on one of the most colorful town races for supervisor of the Town of Ulster, Hoffman suggested that perhaps the Democratic-Conservative endorsed candidate, Robert Stedje, who is a Republican, will win over the GOP candidate, Carmine Sabino.

"As a Democratic-Conservative candidate Stedje might not normally win," Hoffman said, "but as a registered Republican in the predominantly Republican town, he just might."

Klein, talking of the county legislator races said, Bob Smith and Burton Marshall have an excellent chance of election in District 11; George Barthel has an opportunity in District 10 and John Bonilla will also make a good showing in District 12.

Klein also said that if a good campaign were waged, John Gaffney could be elected. Gaffney is a former minority leader of the old Board of Supervisors.

Spada said he feels that Klein's prediction of a win in Woodstock's District 12 is wrong. "I just can't see losing there," he commented. Conceding perhaps one of the four seats in District 1, Saugerties, he said he is hopeful that the GOP will hold on to its two seats and perhaps pick up a third now held by the Democrats.

With regard to the city election, Spada said, "We are coming from the backfield... we have the issues."

On the county level, Spada who himself seeks another term as county clerk said he anticipates that the incumbent Coroner Keyser will have little competition for the post from his opponent Myron Kutcher.

Spada's opponent, Dr. Willis Raff of New Paltz has apparently done little or no campaigning for the office.

Klein concluded that the city ticket is strong and will receive even greater support than in the past years due to increased party enrollment.

One Last Word: Vote

The presumption now is that virtually all voters have made up their minds as to how they will cast their votes in the general election Tuesday. The time for exhortation and argument has passed. Little remains to be said before voters enter the polls, which will be open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

However, one last thing can be said and said emphatically. What we have in mind is the admonition which goes to the very heart of the democratic process: Vote!

On a county-wide basis, candidates will be elected for the office of county clerk and coroner. Throughout the 12 districts in the county, which includes the City of Kingston, county legislators will be named.

In the City of Kingston, the mayor, alderman-at-large and aldermen in the 13 wards will be named along with a city judge.

In the townships, officeholders to be chosen are supervisor, councilman, town justice, assessor, tax collector and town clerk.

These offices are of paramount importance to all of us as they pertain to our local units of government. Those eligible who won't bother to vote might just as well never be citizens as far as having an effect on the administration of county, cities and towns.

Indifference toward certain candidates running for the same office, doesn't excuse a voter from making a choice. A large vote doesn't necessarily guarantee a wise one, but it approaches true expression of the will of the majority.

It also is well for everyone to remember that he cannot afford to be indifferent about the statewide amendments in this election.

The Freeman in earlier editions has given its reasons for supporting the four issues. In the past, the percentage of voters who took time to vote on proposals was appallingly low. The result has been that a small minority determined the fate of amendments to the state constitution which will affect our lives and those of the next generation. Don't default on your responsibilities. It is equally important to vote on these issues as it is to cast a vote for the candidate of your choice.

The right and privilege of voting, of having a voice in government is a vital part of our birthright. But there is more than that to be considered. Exercising this right is a prime duty of citizenship. Exercise it.

Offered Aid to U. S.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers visited with 70 foreign ministers his first trip to the United Nations, and will visit with another 15 or more this week, and said that of all these national representatives, only Foreign Minister Sabah Ahmed Al Javer Al Sabah of Kuwait asked nothing of the United States.

"Kuwait is the most prosperous country in the world," Rogers said. "It was the only country that offered the United States assistance."

This tribute is quite a testimonial to the power and wealth of the tiny Arab nation on the Persian Gulf, reputed to have the greatest oil reserves in the world until the discovery of oil in Alaska's north coastal plains—which are yet to be developed and to prove their wealth.

There is no competition between Alaskan and Kuwait oil. Each can find a market for its products without hurting the other. World industry grows apace and oil fuels it, along with gas, coal and water (hydroelectric power) and the growing nuclear power. There is room for all. The only problem is to transport the fuel. Kuwait has its problem in the closed Suez Canal and Alaska from its icebound seas but both are solving them.

Water Pollution a Crime

Canada is moving in the right direction by introducing a law that makes pollution of her rivers, lakes and coastal waters a federal crime. It is attacking the problem at its source.

If this legislation is adopted, industries and municipalities which pour untreated waste into the waters of the Dominion will face huge fines—of up to $5,000 a day while the offense continues. Further, regional anti-pollution bodies will be able to order pollution-control installations, the cost to fall on the offenders.

In this country, the problem has arisen rapidly. Congress has provided funds for sewage disposal plants for municipalities to abate the nuisance. However, requirements for qualifying for these funds are so stringent, that not enough treatment plants are being built rapidly enough. It should be obvious that open sewerage systems need treatment to eliminate pollution, without all the trouble required of municipalities to qualify for the aid.

Canada has shown the way. Pollution is a crime. But federal government, which has tolerated it so long, should aid in its abatement rather than only denounce it. A combination of the Canadian and American approaches might be the best way to solve the problem in this country.

"But I Use a Deodorant!"

David Lawrence Says Difficulties Ahead Before Integration Is Accomplished

WASHINGTON — Judging by some of the headlines, the Supreme Court of the United States has ordered immediate "integration" of public schools throughout the country. But actually there are many fine points in the decision just rendered which by no means lead to such a conclusion.

First of all, in the Mississippi case, the high court cited two of its previous rulings which give more details than the opinion handed down this week. Thus, it cited the green case of 1968 which declared that "state-imposed dual system" is defined in the decision as an action by a state, going through local school boards of school officials, to make certain schools white and certain schools Negro.

But there is nothing in the opinion rendered this week which stipulates that a school operating in a particular neighborhood which happens to be predominantly white or Negro must select students from other areas in order to accomplish full-scale integration. The high court has never ruled whether what is called "de facto segregation" is illegal. This happens when the residents of an area are largely of one race and naturally their children would have to be admitted to the school in their neighborhood, irrespective of color.

Many suburban areas have few Negro residents. There is no obligation on the part of any school anywhere to obtain students from other school districts, Negro or white, in order to achieve a "racial balance" through a quota system. In fact, the Federal Civil Rights law forbids any use of funds to correct "racial imbalance."

Apparently there are some critics of the Supreme Court decision handed down this week who say that the rule should be applied not only in the south but nationally. This assumes that segregation in the north and west is "state-imposed." There are in all only by white children, but this is generally due solely to residence. If at any time such schools start to exclude Negroes who move into the neighborhood, the Supreme Court rulings against discrimination would immediately apply.

Even with the so-called "dual system" in the south, many changes will have to be made before complete integration is accomplished. The high court realized this when it said that the lower courts may accept all or any part of the August 1969 recommendations of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, "with any modifications which that court deems proper" as long as it insures non-discrimination between applicants.

President Nixon recognized the difficulties which lie ahead when he said in his statement commenting on the court's decision this week:

"There are of course practical and human problems involved, with all of us working together in full respect of the law, I am confident we can overcome these problems."

"I intend to use the leadership resources of the executive branch of government to assist in every possible way in doing so."

The Supreme Court indicated its willingness to deal with contingencies as they arise, but said that the objective must be to remove all state-imposed dual systems now.

What then is new in the high court's decision? It says that desegregation "with all deliberate speed" is no longer constitutionally permissible. The court feels that enough time has elapsed since its 1954 decision for all school districts in the country to have dealt with the problem and desegregated.

But desegregation and integration are not the same thing. If cities retain school boundaries, they may turn over the responsibility for accepting students entirely to the individual school boards in each area, which, in turn, can stipulate that children who live within a school district are the only ones who may attend that school or that students may be admitted no matter where they live.

The timing of the steps in the desegregation process, therefore, now has been clarified. It is up to the school districts to decide whether they will admit students irrespective of race from nearby neighborhoods or confine attendance to students who live in a particular school district.

Yet there is considerable, though restrained, optimism in both these shops as Washington readies for disarmament talks Nov. 17 with the Kremlin's men.

No reappraisal has been made here of Soviet intentions. The belief is that Moscow, as in the past, will supply aid to Castro in Cuba, to Ho Chi Minh's successors in Hanoi, to Soviet-backed Communist groups within France, Red China, Latin America, Africa, the Middle East and wherever and that Brezhnev's men will foment underground insurgencies wherever practical.

The cautious hope, rather, lies in the latest of a series of unpublished reports now circulating in high official circles on the growing inability of the Russian government to foot its internal "bills."

It is becoming apparent (at least from the statistical estimates) that the Soviet Union must now:

Cut back on consumer production to a level that would cause serious internal dissent, or Cut back on heavy space, military and related spending, or Go slow on building the industrial base that will determine how strong the Soviet Union will be 10 years or 20 years from now.

The figures indicate that the Soviet Union has recently robbed from its investment in future growth in order to meet its military and space build-ups.

For men who like to think in decades, this is not a good solution.

Therefore, the reasoning here is, that Brezhnev and his associates must find some way to cut costs in strategic defense and space now so that they will not in their arms build-up today destroy the industrial base and insure their military inferiority in the late 1970s and the 1980s.

(And secondly, the Russian plans do not call for fighting two major enemies on two fronts simultaneously. Regardless of how the Moscow-Peking talks turn out, the Kremlin will be wary of a Mao Tse-tung-run China with nuclear weapons. Moscow, the reasoning goes, must stabilize relations a little with the United States so long as the Chinese threat continues.)

With all this said, no official this reporter has talked to expects quick negotiations. At best, they will be long, involved and tiresome, with haggling over every point. Even if the Russians were not inveterate hagglers, the complexity of nuclear-missile arms subject precludes any settlement within the near future.

They work 12 hours a day—cleaning the toilets, shining the boots, washing the underwear. For $20 a month. And a slap on the rump when the boss is frisky. And a scowl and obscenity when he isn't.

The one-time highlands farmer, now a cobbler. He says he has lost 12 relatives in the last nine years of war, including two brothers, a sister, a son and a wife. He says he doesn't care who wins now. Nothing worse can happen to him.

They go on, these people, somehow.

And, really, they even inch up. Their streets are cleaner than I've ever seen them. They are digging miles of new ditches for modern plumbing. They have imported television for diversion. They have forced enemy terrorists into inactivity. They have wrestled some health woes to a standstill. They have put their schools on 12-hour schedules.

Not that they have come very, very far. Not really. Not while the division in their nation continues into its third decade.

But as one old, weary postal clerk says: "At least we live. And that is some progress in Saigon. To live."

Jack Anderson Says Nixon Urges Republicans To 'Zero In on Big Issues'

WASHINGTON — All summer President Nixon grappled quietly with the nation's problems. Now that he is approaching some historic decisions, he has abandoned the soft sell and has urged party leaders to go on the offensive.

"Zero in on the big issues," he has admonished them. "Talk them up."

He has asked all Republicans who received television invitations to coordinate with White House aide Lyn Nofziger, who will lead them up with political ammunition and suggest what points they should stress.

Meanwhile, here are the big issues that should be coming to a head:

Pope Paul's Fears

Vietnam War — Tonight, the President will deliver his long-awaited report to the nation on the Vietnam war. He declined to give party leaders an advance peek at this text and appealed to them not even to speculate publicly on the content.

In private, however, he has expressed deep fears over the fate of the South Vietnamese in the event of a communist takeover. He has told intimates that Pope Paul expressed the same fears to him.

"When Ho Chi Minh took over North Vietnam," the President is quoted as saying, "His crowd killed all the leading Catholics." Nixon estimated this communist slaughter, not counting war dead, at two million.

On the eve of his Vietnam speech, he received optimistic reports from the fighting front. Captured documents, for instance, indicate that the peasants have lost their enthusiasm for the Viet Cong and no longer respond to communist political pitches.

The only ominous note is that North Vietnamese regulars have been building up their strength in the strategic Mekong Delta. An estimated 4,000 to 5,000 troops have slipped into the Delta through Cambodia during the past few months.

Economic Outlook

Economic Policy — With prices still rising, the Nixon administration is struggling to control inflation without causing a downturn in employment. The President will continue his tight monetary policies through November.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The staff of President Nixon's National Security Council is not heavy with men who trust the Soviet Union. The Pentagon high echelons have made no secret of their suspicions of Moscow's intentions.

Yet there is considerable, though restrained, optimism in both these shops as Washington readies for disarmament talks Nov. 17 with the Kremlin's men.

No reappraisal has been made here of Soviet intentions. The belief is that Moscow, as in the past, will supply aid to Castro in Cuba, to Ho Chi Minh's successors in Hanoi, to Soviet-backed Communist groups within France, Red China, Latin America, Africa, the Middle East and wherever and that Brezhnev's men will foment underground insurgencies wherever practical.

And, really, they even inch up. Their streets are cleaner than I've ever seen them. They are digging miles of new ditches for modern plumbing. They have imported television for diversion. They have forced enemy terrorists into inactivity. They have wrestled some health woes to a standstill. They have put their schools on 12-hour schedules.

Not that they have come very, very far. Not really. Not while the division in their nation continues into its third decade.

But as one old, weary postal clerk says: "At least we live. And that is some progress in Saigon. To live."

"In the spring," he confided to Republican congressional leaders, "we may well want to be moving in the other direction."

"Complete reliance on monetary and fiscal policies may not be enough," cautioned Assistant Senate GOP Leader Robert Griffin. "We need some persuasive action by administration people."

"We have some things in mind which will please you," promised Nixon. He also reported happily that "interest has peaked and started to move down."

"Average unemployment from the Korean war through 1968 was 5.3 per cent," noted Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott. "We should stay well below that danger point."

"Oh, yes," agreed the President, "we must."

Soviet Missile Tests

Soviet American Negotiations — President Nixon has informed his congressional advisers that Russia not only is testing multiple warheads but new missiles as well. America's most modern missile, he added, is the minute-man now 10 years old.

As evidence of Russia's continuing military build-up, the President gave GOP leaders top-secret intelligence figures. These dramatized the urgency of disarmament negotiations, he said, to reduce "the tremendous war burden" on both countries.

"We must negotiate," he stressed. "We must be prepared to bargain." He cautioned, however, that the bargaining would be hard.

Meanwhile, he made it clear that he isn't going to take the advice of Senate doves that we take the initiative in halting multiple-warhead tests.

"Unilateral disarmament would be excessively dangerous at this time," declared the President emphatically. "The U.S. must never be behind, so that our diplomacy will be credible."

Sweet and Sour

The day that Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Robert Finch banned the sweetener cyclamate from the market, 40 alarmed food and beverage producers thronged into his office.

One producer demanded whether any scientific evidence had been uncovered that cyclamates cause cancer in human beings. Finch readily acknowledged that a heavy dose of cyclamates had produced cancer in the bladders of some rats but that no evidence exists of similar results in people.

"I'm confused," said the producer. "Why is it that cyclamate is banned when there is no evidence that it produces cancer in humans, while tobacco is not banned when there is scientific evidence that it does produce cancer in humans?"

"All I can say," replied Finch, "is that the tobacco people must have a more powerful lobby." He explained that the law requires him to ban any food additive which produces cancer in man or animal. The law, however, doesn't apply to tobacco.

Note: The First businessman to reach Finch after the ban was Pepsi Cola's Don Kendall, a presidential intimate, who sent Richard Nixon around the world in the early 1960s to promote Pepsi. Every door in Washington, therefore, is open to the distinguished, white-haired Kendall.

His company, of course, will suffer heavy losses because of the cyclamate ban. He strode into Finch's office, carrying a canvas bag. Pretending there was a bomb in the bag, he shoved it under Finch's desk.

"Is this where he sits?" demanded Kendall mischievously. "I don't want to miss him the way they did Hitler."

WASHINGTON (NEA) — I walk through this city again for the first time in nearly two years and find that, God help them, after all this period of torment, the people go on.

Three million of them, or more.

Some good. Some bad. Some unclassifiable. Cramped in, around and on top of each other in 21 square miles of squalor. Noisy, angry, silent, happy, passive, violent.

Prices have risen 30 per cent. Corruption has leaped off statistical graphs. Communist agents infiltrate at will.

Nine hundred thousand vehicles plug the avenues. Sixty-five per cent of all the structures are substandard. Thirty-five per cent of newborn babies die within their first year. One rat exists for every citizen. Thirty thousand prostitutes roam the alleys, 250,000 juvenile delinquents clutter the gutters — and a few square blocks of the downtown have more bars than the entire metropolis has churches.

Still the people go on.

My cycle driver. The one who has to stop every block to spit up blood from tuberculosis. He smiles as he always did. And though his fare has gone up — for an old friend and customer he grins that the price is as before.

The kid who fixes motorbikes by the post office. He's grimmer than ever. He admits to having had a bath last July — "but it rains very much here and I stand in it sometimes." He's 19. He supports his war-widowed mother.

The blind seer of Tu Duc Street. Two years ago he correctly guessed the exact month of Ho Chi Minh's death, but his listener paid no attention. Now, for 30 piastres fee, he predicts the shooting war will end "by March of 1970."

The beggar on Hung Dao. He has one arm, one leg. He lost the others in the war. He was supposed to be compensated by the government, but it never happened. He supposes some politician got his share. Now he fights to stay alive.

The maids at the GI hotels,

They work 12 hours a day—cleaning the toilets, shining the boots, washing the underwear. For $20 a month. And a slap on the rump when the boss is frisky. And a scowl and obscenity when he isn't.

The one-time highlands farmer, now a cobbler. He says he has lost 12 relatives in the last nine years of war, including two brothers, a sister, a son and a wife. He says he doesn't care who wins now. Nothing worse can happen to him.

They go on, these people, somehow.

And, really, they even inch up. Their streets are cleaner than I've ever seen them. They are digging miles of new ditches for modern plumbing. They have imported television for diversion. They have forced enemy terrorists into inactivity. They have wrestled some health woes to a standstill. They have put their schools on 12-hour schedules.

Four Amendments on Tuesday Ballot

KINGSTON Four proposed amendments to the State Constitution will be on the Nov. 4 ballot. They deal with loans for hospitals and related facilities, the Job Development Authority, Conservation, the State Nature and Historical Preserve and apportionment.

Amendment Number One, which relates to the hospital loans is supported locally by Benedictine, Kingston and Ellenville Community Hospitals.

It would permit the loan of state or municipal funds or credit for the construction of hospitals or related facilities. At present public money or credit may not be given or loaned to a private individual or organization for this purpose. The amendment would make long term, low interest loans and construction of non-profit and limited profit health facilities.

Proponents say that there is an urgent need for new health facilities in the state and present facilities are outdated and overtaxed and are therefore extremely expensive to maintain. Also, they feel government should fulfill its responsibility for the care of the sick by helping private organizations to build and improve hospitals.

Opponents claim that public funds should not be used for privately owned profit making institutions, that borrowing contributes to inflationary pressures and that the scope of the credit which could be given under the proposal is not clearly defined.

Amendment Number Two, pertaining to the Job Development Authority, asks that state guaranteed borrowing power of the authority be increased from $50 million to $150 million. The Authority, established in 1962 to stimulate industrial development in New York, has used $44 million of its available lending power. It makes loans to non-profit finance new businesses or to expand or rehabilitate existing ones.

Those for the amendment say that the Authority has made substantial contribution to the strength and stability of the state's economy and has helped New York compete with other states for new industry. They claim the Authority has been self-supporting and for the past two years has operated at a profit. They feel its continuation is essential to a halt as soon as its remaining $6 million of guaranteed borrowing power is used up.

Those against the amendment say that the Authority's impact on the economy of the state is far less than is claimed and that private financing can do the job as well. They feel the state's credit rating would be endangered by the proposed increase in its liability for Authority bonds, that the powers and duties of the Authority are so broad that its original chief purpose, the development of employment opportunities in depressed areas, may be dissipated in more general urban renewal activities.

Amendment Number Three would add a "Bill of Rights" for conservation to the Constitution, making it a state policy to conserve and protect our natural resources and scenic beauty.

It would allow the state to acquire new lands for these purposes which would not be disposed of unless two legislative sessions approved. The Legislature would curb air and water pollution and unnecessary noise, protect agricultural lands, wetlands and shorelines and develop and regulate water resources. Present "Forever Wild" provisions of the Constitution would be continued.

Those for the amendment say it will prevent 20th century technology from permanently destroying our natural environment.

There is no known opposition to the amendment.

Amendment Number Four would require the state to count all residents in setting up State Senate and Assembly Districts as it does for Congressional Districts. Aliens are now excluded in figuring the population of each legislative district. Those for the amendment say that it would save the state about $1 million every ten years by obtaining a separate alien count which it now spends for separate census data on the number of aliens. They maintain there are too few aliens to make a difference in the district lines and the need to obtain a separate alien count causes unnecessary delay in state's districting rules which are still unconstitutional under the United States Supreme Court's one man, one vote decision.

Those opposing the amendment do not object to county aliens but fear that this amendment will lead voters to think they are correcting the

Endorsement Urged By the Sierra Club

The Mid-Hudson Chapter of the Sierra Club has strongly endorsed Constitutional Amendment Number Three to be voted on Election Day, which has become known as the "Conservation Bill of Rights."

The conservation organization unanimously voted to endorse the amendment at a recent meeting.

The amendment, entitled "The State Nature and Historical Preserve," will make it a state policy to conserve and protect our natural resources and scenic beauty.

Walter Blank, conservation chairman of the Sierra Club, said that if New Yorkers approve the amendment, they will be making a formal, constitutional commitment to the principles of conservation.

"An overwhelming 'yes' vote would encourage legislators to push conservation legislation actively," Blank said. "But perhaps, most importantly, New Yorkers would establish a precedent for all Americans."

According to Blank the present articles is "good as far as it goes" but "it is too limited."

"It establishes forest preserves and provides wildlife conservation, but that is all. The addition of the new section provides and essential legal basis for a fully effective conservation program," he said.

Library Grant Set For Two Area Colleges

POUGHKEEPSIE Ulster County Community College at Stone Ridge and the State University at New Paltz will share in the first part of a $50,000 library grant from the federal government to nine Hudson Valley higher learning institutions, it was announced Friday.

The Southeastern New York Library Resources Council said $12,500 for college libraries has been received from the U.S. Office of Education as the first installment of the grant to improve research resources.

Other colleges are Bard, Mount St. Mary, St. Thomas Aquinas, Vassar, Marist, Bennett and Rockland Community College.

An application for the grant was filed in April by the council as part of its program to make available research resources to the scholars and professional persons in the Hudson Valley, a spokesman said.

Counseling Expanded by Area Clergymen

REV. RALPH FOGG

The Mid-Hudson Counseling Center here, which offers a variety of counseling and pastoral services to residents of the region, will offer two additional services in the near future.

According to staff counselor, the Rev. Ralph Fogg, a clergy consultation group will meet to offer area clergymen an opportunity to enrich and expand their pastoral skills in dealing with persons with whom they counsel.

The meeting, which will be held on Nov. 12 at 10 a. m., will be conducted in the New Paltz Center's offices, 3 North Oakwood Terrace.

The other new service offered by the center will be two programs in the form of weekly group meetings.

One program will offer to mothers of young children a chance to deal with their aims and difficulties in directing the development of their pre-school children. The second program will be offered to church school teachers and leaders of senior-high young people to aid in understanding, working, and relating to them more effectively.

Dutchess Woman Is Organizing Mother's March

RED HOOK

A Red Hook resident has taken it upon herself to organize an area Mother's March on Washington Nov. 15.

Mrs. Joan Malloy stated today that the reason for the march is to assert the responsibility of the parent in the fight now being carried by the youth.

"The American mother has the right to question the necessity which requires her son to be taken and sent to Vietnam, possibly to his death," she said.

She quoted figures of 38,000 troops killed in Vietnam, 128,000 wounded, and more than 106 billion dollars spent, and called for a "complete and unequivocal withdrawal from Vietnam immediately."

Mrs. Malloy added, "Either the taxpayers want war in wishing to become involved in every government's crisis . . . or the voters want peace and wish only to fight poverty and prejudice."

She has established a mailing address of Box 1776, Red Hook for inquiries from area mothers on the march.

Rocky Names Two

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Governor Rockefeller today announced the recess appointments of two members of the State Passenger Tramway Advisory Council for terms expiring Sept. 30, 1974.

They were Porter K. Bennett of Cortland, president of the Champion Sheet Metal Company Inc., and Arnold L. Johnson of Rochester, director of industrial relations for Bausch and Lomb Inc.

Fire on Mobs

KARACHI (UPI)—Pakistani troops opened fire Sunday on mobs of Bengalis who rioted in Dacca. Official reports from the scene said one person was killed and 19 were wounded. The target of the Bengali violence was refugees from India.

ACCORD

William S. Greenawalt, Jr., frequently mentioned as the possible Democratic nominee for attorney general next year, was the principal speaker Sunday night at a gathering of Town of Rochester Democrats at Granit Hotel, Accord.

Greenawalt has been appearing with increasing frequency in Upstate communities in what is apparently a determined effort to meet Democrats throughout the state.

In his talk, the New York City lawyer, who resides in Hartsdale, Westchester County stressed repeatedly that the Democratic Party must not fall prey to the prophets of gloom and doom, who, he said, have "predicted the demise of the Democratic Party in New York at least three times in the past 30 days."

Greenawalt also deplored what he called the "torpor" of the Republican administration, particularly as concerns the office of attorney general, which, he reminded his audience, the Republicans have held for 28 years. During these years, he maintained, the "enormous investigative powers of the office" have not been in the area of consumer fraud or in any other area which should be of concern.

Greenawalt served from 1965 to 1968 as the first Northeast Regional director of the OEO Legal Services Program, and is now a practicing attorney in New York City and a member of the firm of Royall, Koege & Wells.

He previously served as campaign aid to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and other leading Democrats, including Paul O'Dwyer.

Senate Bogs Down Popular Vote Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances for Senate approval of a Constitutional amendment providing the direct election of the president have about faded to the point where the 1972 election may be decided under the current electoral college system.

RE-ELECT A MAN of PROVEN ABILITY
DONALD E. QUICK FOR ALDERMAN OF THE SIXTH WARD

There's No Substitute for Experience

The House approved the proposed amendment Sept. 18 by a 339-70 vote, far more than the necessary two-thirds majority. But no action has been taken by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Time is running strongly against the amendment, because the Senate will have its hands full for the rest of the year with the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., the massive tax reform bill, and a pile-up of delayed appropriations measures.

The first step is to get the amendment out of the Judiciary Committee, which has been two-thirds majority in the Senate.

Sharply divided on electoral reform proposals, the issue was pushed aside by Haynsworth's nomination and no date has been set for taking it up.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the direct election amendment, said there will be no meaningful discussion of it within the committee until the Haynsworth nomination is disposed of.

However, Bayh said he has not given up hope of winning Senate approval of the proposed amendment this year—or, if this proves impossible, early next year.

If the amendment gains a majority in the Senate, it still will have to be ratified by three-fourths of the states. This may be the biggest hurdle of all.

As approved by the House, the amendment provides that ratification by the states must be completed by Jan. 21, 1971, to take effect for the 1972 presidential election.

Bayh said he will fight to push the ratification deadline back to May or June of 1971, contending the House set cut-off date may make it impossible to put the direct election plan into operation for 1972.

The longer Senate action is delayed, the more likely this is to be the case.

However, House sponsors of the proposed amendment argued the deadline was necessary to allow time for Congress to pass legislation implementing the plan if the states ratify it.

The proposed amendment abolishes the system of allotting electoral votes to the states on a winner take all basis. It also eliminates the elector, a usually faceless intermediary who in theory casts the votes actually electing a president.

Instead, a candidate receiving at least 40 per cent of the vote nationally would be elected president, regardless of how many states he carried. If no candidate carried 40 per cent of the popular vote, a runoff will be held between the finishers.

Never Too Late For Old Soldier

ROWLEY, Mass. (UPI)—Maurice W. Fuller received a Silver Star for gallantry Sunday—51 years late.

Fuller, 78, earned the medal in France during World War I while fighting with the 101st Field Artillery. He was wounded twice by shrapnel, once at St. Mihiel on Sept. 18, 1918 and again at Verdun on Nov. 4, one week before the armistice.

He was notified the medal had been awarded him but he never received it.

"He just disregarded it—you know how young men are," said his wife, Martie. "He enlisted because he wanted to do something for his country, not for a medal."

However, the Army recently got in touch with Fuller again, and Maj. Gen. Joseph Ambrose, Massachusetts adjutant general, made the presentation Sunday at a special Veterans of Foreign Wars post meeting.

Fuller said he was "quite pleased, quite pleased."

CRYPTOLOGIST DIES—William F. Friedman, a government cryptologist instrumental in breaking the Japanese code before and during World War II, died in Washington Sunday. Unable to patent his code-breaking device, he received $100,000 congressional grant in 1956 as compensation. He was 78. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Leukemia Virus Finding Cited as Breakthrough

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI)—Glasgow University scientists said today they had discovered a leukemia virus that can live in the cells of animals as well as humans. They described the finding as "the biggest breakthrough in cancer research in 20 years."

A research team at the university said it isolated a leukemia virus in cats and then injected the virus into the tissues of dogs, pigs and humans in test tube experiments. The virus lived in each case, the researchers said.

This is the first time a leukemia virus has been found to grow in cells of widely unrelated species.

Leukemia is a form of blood cancer which strikes especially younger persons.

Dr. Oswald Jarrett, head of the research team, said the discovery establishes that "blood cancer is definitely caused by a virus."

He cautioned against expecting a cure soon for leukemia or other forms of cancer. But he added, "The outlook is promising."

Dr. Robert Williamson, a leading cancer researcher in Scotland, called the discovery the "biggest breakthrough in cancer research in 20 years."

The researchers said they would try to discover if domestic pets could pass the disease to humans.

"There is no need for panic. The possibility of anyone catching leukemia from their dog or cat is, on the present evidence, remote," Jarrett said.

"Several cases have been cited in which humans and dogs or cats in the same household have developed leukemia. But there is no evidence so far that the occurrence of these cases is any more than coincidence," the researchers said.

Memorial

In sad and loving memory of our dear Poppy, Ernest J. Perry, who passed away nine months ago today, November 3. We had a loving Poppy once. He was our joy and pride. We loved him, perhaps too well. For soon, he slept and died. All is dark within our dwelling. Lonely are our hearts today. For the one we loved so dearly. Has forever passed away.

Memorial

In sad and loving memory of my dear husband, Ernest J. Perry, who passed away nine months ago today, November 3. I have lost my soul's companion. A life linked with my own. And day by day, I miss him more. As I walk through life alone. Till memory fades and life departs. You live forever in my heart. Wife, LILLIAN

Memorial

In loving memory of my dear father, Ernest J. Perry, who passed away nine months ago today, November 3. Your memories in my heart mean more to me than I can say. Although I smile and seem carefree. The depths of sorrow I cannot tell. Of the one I loved so well. Dear is the grave where you are laid. Your soul so pure and sweet. Blossoms at our Savior's feet. Sadly missed. Daughter, AGNES

Highland Gets Federal Grant For Program

HIGHLAND
The Highland Central School District has received a federal grant to conduct a remedial education program in their schools.

The grant, which totals $17,565, was awarded under the provisions of the elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, according to Donald Baines, supervising principal of the Highland schools.

The objectives of the program are to give more students remedial training in reading the perceptual skills which they might lack.

Staffing for this program will include Mrs. Grace MacLeod, Mrs. Dolores Alfano, and Mrs. Janice Wolfman. In addition to the reading staff, a supportive aide is available to act as liaison between the home and the school for follow-up consolidation of learnings.

County Receives $373,140 State Welfare Grant

ALBANY
Ulster County welfare program received $373,140 from the state last week, part of the $40,318,300 state and federal share of the November anticipated welfare costs outside of New York City.

State Comptroller Arthur J. Levitt also announced the distribution of $118,085 to Greene County and $237,295 to Dutchess County as part of the social services payments for November.

New York City received a separate payment of $48,996,750 for the first half of the month and is expected to receive a similar amount from the state for Nov. 5 to 30. Federal regulations require semi-monthly payments to the state's largest city.

Teamster's Head Clarified Point On Endorsement

KINGSTON
Theodore G. Daley, principal officer of Local 445, Teamsters Union, commented today on a published endorsement Saturday by the Building Trades and Construction Council and Teamsters Union of Democrat Liberal mayoral candidate Francis R. Koenig and his running mates in which individual locals were mentioned.

Daley said that the "Building Trades Construction Council and Teamster Union endorsement is not an endorsement by any individual local."

THE PRESENTATION — Lt. Anderson is decorated by Major General Lloyd Ramsey in Vietnam.

For Heroism in Vietnam

Lt. Anderson Wins the Bronze Star

Army First Lt. Michael J. Anderson, son of Col. and Mrs. E. Lance Anderson (USAF Ret.) of 60 Madison Avenue, Kingston, has been awarded the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster in Vietnam.

Lt. Anderson is a platoon commander in Company 'A', First Battalion, 52nd Infantry of the Americal Division.

The lieutenant, a 1967 graduate of St. Lawrence University, has also been awarded the Purple Heart and the Vietnam Cross of Gallantry for Valor.

His awards were for ground operations against a hostile force in Vietnam during the period from Feb. 24 to May 12, 1969.

The citation accompanying the award of the Bronze Star said, "Lt. Anderson distinguished himself by exceptionally valorous action while serving as a platoon leader with Company 'A', First Battalion when the company was engaged in ground combat near Tien Phouc.

"On Feb. 26 Lt. Anderson's platoon was ambushed by a large North Vietnamese Army force. Due to the closeness of the enemy force, the platoon was unable to place effective mortar fire on the enemy position. Lt. Anderson deployed his men and maneuvered them to position where they engaged and repelled the hostile force.

On March 6, Lt. Anderson lead combined elements of the company in an assault on a fortified enemy location. Under his leadership, continuous firepower and assault the enemy position secured.

"On May 12, Landing Zone Buff came under an intense ground attack by an enemy force of undetermined size. With complete disregard to his own safety, Lt. Anderson exposed himself to enemy fire moving through his platoon's sector, assisting the wounded, and directing the fire and movement of his men. After one of the friendly bunkers had been taken over by the enemy, Lt. Anderson took a group of men, advanced on the insurgents and rescued the position.

"Lt. Anderson's personal heroism, professional competence and devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service. Anderson took a group of men, advanced on the insurgents and rescued the position. Lt. Anderson's wife, the Mrs. Edward Harris of upon himself, the American former Emma Pringle and their Watertown, N.Y.

Doctor O.K.'s This Hemorrhoid Treatment For N.J. Couple's Son

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain in Most Cases

Wharton, N.J. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jeffers report: "Our son suffered from hemorrhoids. I asked the doctor about Preparation H and he gave us the O.K. Our son is now fine, thanks to Preparation H!"

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

New Navy Recruiter At Office in City

Machinist Mate First Class Kenneth A. Thorpe, has reported to duty as a recruiting officer at the Navy recruiting station on Broadway and Maiden Lane.

Thorpe joins Chiefs James Juliano and John Drake at the recruiting office.

Petty officer Thorpe enlisted in the Navy at Seattle, Wash. in 1950. He was stationed aboard the U. S. S. Boyd at San Diego, Calif., the U. S. S. Shangri-la at Mayport, Fla. and the U. S. S. Hancock at San Francisco, Calif.

In addition to holding the Navy Good Conduct Medal (second award), Petty Officer Thorpe wears the National Defense Medal, Vietnam Service Medal and Vietnam Campaign Medal.

Residing with him will be his wife, the former Miss Winona Allen of Bellflower, Calif., and their daughter Laurie Jean, 5, and their son Bradley Allen, 4.

Petty Officer Thorpe stresses the stay in school policy of the Navy and the many resulting programs offered to the High school graduates. He will be located at Broadway and Maiden Lane, and will have weekday office hours of 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

KENNETH THORPE

Raymond Fallon

Fireman Apprentice Raymond Fallon, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Fallon Sr. of Briggs Highway, Ellenville, is credited with the destruction of enemy base camps, troop locations and bunkers aboard the heavy cruiser USS Boston. Since June the Boston has successfully completed nearly 75 gunfire missions on enemy targets. It was credited with the destruction of enemy base camps, troop locations and bunkers from the Demilitarized Zone to the south of Danang.

Treasure Hunts in Backyards Can Discover Valuable Assets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Corporations are conducting unique treasure hunts in their own back yards—and front yards, too.

Many companies are discovering they have immensely valuable hidden assets in real estate carried on their books at cost. Frequently, the property has not been appraised since it was bought as long ago as 20, 30, or even 50 years.

Edmund J. McRickard, a partner in Brooks, Harvey & Co., a New York-based firm which arranges permanent financing for real estate ventures, warns that the inflation of the last two decades has made it imperative for corporations to take a hard look at the present and potential value of their holdings.

The swift increase in conglomerates has made corporate managements aware, some of them painfully, that acquisition-minded companies are looking sharply for companies that have hidden real estate potential on their books.

Hidden Value

"Undervalued and unencumbered real estate offers a borrowing power to an acquiring company that can offset the purchase cost," McRickard said.

Alternatively, he said the best use of the real estate can be in development that results from increased cash flow. Sophisticated financing devices such as sale-leasebacks undertaken by the company alone or through a joint venture can result in tax advantages or supply capital in today's tight money markets. The problem with many corporations is that for years they have regarded their real estate management as simply one of administration, McRickard said.

"Top executive skills and energies have gone into production and marketing," he said. "The people in charge of corporate real estate have been considered as custodians."

Expert Help

The rapidly growing realization of real estate potential has led many companies to seek outside help from real estate experts either as consultants or to head up joint ventures with the company as a participant. The demand for such expertise, McRickard says, far outstrips the supply. The entrance of Wall Street firms into the field through acquisition of subsidiaries or the establishment of real estate departments has contributed to the shortage of manpower.

The kind of expert McRickard describes is a real estate generalist who is able to use the skills of specialists to discover and assay the impact of population shifts, new road systems, industrial trends, zoning obstacles, tax advantages and construction and space problems.

Moreover, he has to have the confidence of the lending institutions, the insurance companies and pension funds that

OF THE TOWN OF HURLEY

My decision to seek the office of Town Councilman, stemmed from a true concern for our young people, and a strong feeling for the rights of others.

During the past twenty-two years, I witnessed the Town of Hurley change from a rural community to a suburb steadily increasing in population. The lack of proper supervision has resulted in the inadequate and unbalanced development of the Town.

Two years ago we took a giant step forward, electing Bob Schneller Town Supervisor, continuing this forward move must be our goal.

We must now prepare for our future in this new decade, a greater sense of awareness, an open mind, a conscientious attitude and an interest of all people will be necessary qualities; I believe I have these qualities.

I feel the need for proper development of business and industry to offset the costs of new services that are soon to be needed.

Our Town Recreation Program is virtually non-existent, when compared to our population. Recreation need not be costly using existing town facilities, a little imagination and the ever available help of local civic organizations, a suitable recreation program could be established.

The formation of a sensible and positive program for the resurfacing and the maintaining of town roads is necessary.

Kugelman and Terpening

Promotions at Kingston Savings Bank

DANIEL P. TERPENING

The promotion of two officers of the Kingston Savings Bank has been announced by Clifford A. Henze, president. Francis Kugelman Jr. was named assistant treasurer and Daniel P. Terpening was appointed to the position of auditor.

In his new position, Kugelman will have responsibilities in areas of personnel and public relations, consumer relations and marketing. A member of the bank's staff since July, 1960, he has been auditor for four years. He attended Saugerties Central Schools and is a graduate of Albany Business College where he majored in business administration and accounting.

Kugelman has also taken several courses with The American Institute of Banking. He is a licensed Savings Bank Life Insurance agent and an associate member of the Ulster County Board of Realtors. He currently is serving as public relations chairman for the 1969-70 Ulster County Community Chest campaign, and is second vice president of Kingston Lions Club.

He is an active member of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, past president and presently a member of the board of directors of the Ulster County chapter of American Institute of Banking, an active member of the Savings Banks' Auditors and Comptrollers Forum, and an associate member of the National Association of Former State Troopers. Mr. Kugelman is married to the former Veronica Porto, and they have one daughter, Patricia Lynne, born in August, 1968. They reside in Elmendorf Heights.

Mr. Terpening joined the staff of the Kingston Savings Bank in April, 1968, and served as manager of its Bonanza office from its opening June 29, 1968, until August of this year, when he was reassigned to the main office in preparation for assuming his duties as auditor.

Mr. Terpening graduated from Kingston High School and Albany Business College, where he majored in accounting and business administration. He has completed an IBM machine accounting and computer course, the General Motors standard accounting course, and The American Institute of Banking pre-standard course.

He is married to the former Madalyn L. Smith of Oswego. They are the parents of a daughter, Melinda, and make their home in Port Ewen. He is a member of the board of directors of Ulster County Community Chest, member of the Town of Esopus Lions Club, treasurer of the Reformed Church in Port Ewen, and a former delegate to the Kingston Area Council of Churches.

Smith Avenue Storage Buys Rhinebeck Firm

KINGSTON Smith Avenue Storage Warehouse Moving Company, Inc., 149 Clinton Avenue, has purchased Keith Tremper Moving Company of Rhinebeck, it has been announced by Frederick G. Faerber 3rd, president of the local firm.

The purchase of Keith Tremper Moving Company gives Smith Avenue Storage, operating authority in Dutchess County and the State of Rhode Island, which the Kingston firm did not have.

Smith Avenue Storage Warehouse Moving Co. Inc. has been operating under the present management since 1962. Other officers of the firm are Patricia Whitaker, vice president, and Bernice Faerber, secretary. In 1962 the company had two trucks operating in the area, and today Smith Avenue has 23 pieces of equipment with offices in Albany, Schenectady, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh. The main office is in Kingston.

The company also has set up a group of booking agents that range from Queens County to Boston, Mass., and back to Buffalo. The company at present is operating in 14 states, and is in the process of buying operating authority in 22 states east of the Mississippi and seven provinces in Canada.

Due to the expansion program set up by the company, they will be operating in 50 states in the next five years, continuing to maintain the main offices in this city. Smith Avenue Storage Warehouse Moving Co. is also the agent for Republic Van Lines which is a nation-wide and overseas operation.

"Bonilla hasn't a chance in Woodstock - -

- - after all, he's a Democrat!"

It's a sad commentary if the statement, which was heard last week, is true. If election results can be predestined by enrollment count rather than candidate calibre — then we have cause for concern.

However we choose to hope. During the past few years, a healthy trend in the country indicates that — more often than not — the electorate has selected the candidate most qualified despite party label. Favorable enrollment figures — once a sanctuary for the incumbent — no longer guarantees the "safe contest."

We in Woodstock have an opportunity for the first time in many years to select a dynamic young man with proven performance to represent us in the County Legislature. Again the odds are against him — something like 3 to 1.

But this contest need not be pre-destined if only we take the time to compare. Compare the two men running for this important office and then vote according to conscience.

As we've said before — if you desire representation in the County Legislature as you've never had it before — put John Bonilla to work for Woodstock — AND YOU.

New Plans at Moderniture

Joseph DiDonna, local businessman who has been engaged in business in Ulster County since 1928, announced that when in 1955 he opened Moderniture, the store, as the name implies, pioneered in the field of modern furniture in this area, introducing the avant-garde styles. Since that time the store has broadened its concept to include Early American and Traditional, as well as contemporary. It was also first to present model rooms which gave customers the opportunity of seeing rather than imagining what furniture grouping would actually look like. Another first was its exclusive gallery of convertible sofa beds.

With the appointment of Sam Cerasaro as interior designer, co-ordinator of display and merchandising, Moderniture has launched a whole new concept: that of an interior design center offering professional service for both homes and businesses. Although Moderniture has always specialized in personal attention they now have the added advantage of Mr. Cerasaro's extensive professional experience in the field of design.

Poll Doubts Ted's Story

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifty-one per cent of the persons polled by Time magazine believe Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., has not told the truth about the accident in which Mary Jo Kopechne died last July.

Response to questions regarding the senator's truthfulness and related questions about the accident, when compared with a similar poll more than a month ago, indicate Kennedy's credibility has declined during the legal maneuvering of the past two months, Time said.

Time, in its Nov. 7 issue, said 51 per cent of the 1,589 persons polled agreed with the statement: "Kennedy has not told the truth about the accident." Twenty-five per cent disagreed and 24 per cent were not sure.

In August, shortly after Kennedy gave his version of the accident on television, 44 per cent of the persons surveyed said they believed he did not tell the truth, 36 per cent through he did tell the truth and 20 per cent were not sure.

Pickets Clash With Police at GE in Vermont

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pickets and police clashed today at the strike-bound General Electric plant in Burlington, Vt., and six persons were arrested, most on charges of breach of the peace.

The fighting erupted after about 150 pickets formed a human cordon in front of the plant and refused to let more than 1,000 non-striking employees through to work, police said.

The 42 members of the Burlington police force and eight state troopers were summoned to the plant. After two unsuccessful tries, they finally broke through the line.

Police Capt. Robert Abare said many of those in the cordon were striking GE employees from Lynn, Mass. They arrived in Burlington aboard three buses, Abare said.

Several of the police officers were kicked and punched during the confrontation, Abare said, but no one was hospitalized.

Union spokesmen could not be reached for comment on the incident.

The clash occurred as the nationwide strike against GE entered its second week.

Picketing against GE's various facilities in New England continued through the weekend, but without difficulty.

John Shambo, chief negotiator for the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, the largest union involved in the strike, was to be in Massachusetts today to "review" IUE picket lines in Lynn and Fitchburg, a union spokesman said.

Shambo has led the IUE's contract talks with GE since the bargaining began last spring.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened mixed today in moderately active trading.

Profit taking turned stocks lower last week after a sharp mid-October advance. But there is now widespread belief the market will simply drift as it waits on President Nixon to deliver his much heralded Vietnam address tonight.

Burglars Hit Lafayette Firm

TOWN OF ULSTER — Burglars forced their way through a skylight at the Lafayette Radio Electronics building on Albany Avenue sometime during the weekend and carted off a quantity of electronic equipment, according to an official at the store.

Kingston State Police and deputies from the sheriff's office were assigned to investigate the break-in shortly before 11 a.m. after the burglary was discovered.

A spokesman at the store said he was unable to place a value on the missing merchandise that included radios, televisions, hi-fi sets and other electronics equipment. An inventory was being taken.

7 Youngsters Perish in Fire

DOVER, N. J. (UPI) — Six young sisters and their brother died in a fire at their home as firemen attempting to get to the screaming youngsters were driven back by the smoke and flames.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jaquish, two other children and a boarder escaped the two-family home early Sunday without injury.

The children's grandfather, Edward Earl, 62, was reported in fair condition at Dover General Hospital suffering from burns and smoke inhalation.

Firemen said the dead children, who were sleeping in one bedroom, were burned beyond recognition. They said the fire's origin was undetermined.

The victims were Patricia Jaquish, 12; Nancy, 11; Jo Anne, 8; Laurie Anne, 6; Hope, 5; Frederick, 3; and Michelle, 2. Firemen were able to get survivors out, but couldn't reach the children's room.

DA of Dutchess Taps Aide for Fire Inquiry

Confronted by a rash of incendiary fires which officials said had been definitely set, Dutchess County Dist. Atty. Albert M. Rosenblatt has assigned an assistant full time to investigate the blazes.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James V. Brands has been relieved of all other duties and will be working with fire and police officials in the inquiry launched to make possible arrests in the acts of arson that have resulted in a rash of fires.

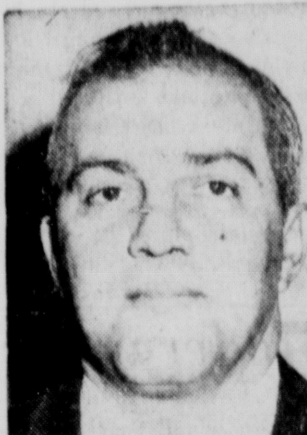

Fire Chief Irving Merrick said all fire companies in the city were dispatched to Pershing Avenue on the city's north side shortly before 2 a.m. Sunday after flames were discovered by Patrolman James McDermott sweeping through a two-story frame 4-family duplex house.

Merrick said evidence that kerosene had been used at the fire was uncovered during preliminary investigation. "This fire like four others was definitely touched off," the chief said.

The fires sparked alarm among police and fire authorities and city officials as unrest spread through the residential sections. A rash of five building fires occurred within two hours early Friday morning. The Day School.

Summer Study in Spain Gains New Paltz Credits

NEW PALTZ
Teachers and advanced students are being offered an eight-week program of 1970 summer courses at the University of Oviedo, in northern Spain, through State University College, New Paltz, according to Dr. Robert V. Piluso, chairman of the College's Foreign Language Division.

The college will extend 10 graduate or undergraduate credits to students enrolling for the summer program, Dr. Piluso said.

The summer study is designed to give present and potential Spanish language teacher firsthand information about Spanish culture and civilizations and on-the-spot contact with the people of Spain. Round trip jet transportation, college fees, room, board, field trips, and health and flight insurances are included in the $965 overall fee, according to Louis Saraceno, of the Spanish faculty at New Paltz, director of the Oviedo summer program.

Field trips to various historical and artistic points, directly related to the classroom work, have also been arranged, and a certificate in Spanish culture will be presented to students upon completion of the course.

Professor Saraceno said application forms are now being accepted at the college. Students will leave New York June 29 and will return August 22.

Suspends Rules

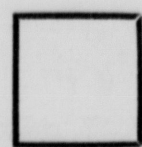

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Judicial Conference, policy-making arm of the federal judiciary, has suspended a five-month-old rule which said federal judges had to get permission from the conference before accepting fees for off-bench activities. The conference put forth instead a temporary replacement rule which eliminates the need for prior permission; but it says that jurists who accept pay for lectures or other appearances must later report their activities to a three-judge panel designated by the chief justice of the United States.

Statue Damaged

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Vatican officials draped a cloth today over the hands of 19th century statue of Pope Pius VI, badly damaged Saturday by a hammer-wielding West German.

Fiore Gets Poughkeepsie Nod

Lindsay Picked in New York

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Picking winners in political contests is probably one of the most popular yet hazardous sports played at this time of year. With so many local contests to be decided Tuesday everyone has a chance to play.

Contestants in "pick the winner" games usually have reasons to back up their selections. Some depend on public opinion polls, crystal balls, the stars, past performances, the money a candidate spends, the way he combs his hair or smiles, advice of political leaders and suggestions from professional observers.

In reaching my picks, I stayed away from all of them. Instead, I relied on the age-old system of flipping a coin. Here they are:

New York City—Mayor John V. Lindsay by a comfortable margin. Lindsay, independent-Liberal, has attracted support of "big names" in both the Republican and Democratic parties. He has spent more money than his opponents. Democrat Mario A. Procaccino has slipped badly in the past few weeks. State Sen. John J. Marchi, the Republican who trimmed Lindsay in last June's primary, won't in the election. However, Marchi comes out much stronger politically than when he entered the city race.

Albany—Mayor Erastus Corning, Democrat, will win handily over Albert Hartheimer, Republican. Corning has been mayor so long—28 years—he is as familiar in Albany as the State Capitol.

Buffalo—Mayor Frank Sedita, Democrat-Liberal. Sedita won last time by 11,600 votes, which was the largest margin ever given a Democratic mayoralty candidate. It will be bigger this year. Mrs. Alfreda W. Slominski, Republican-Conservative, has put up a strong fight on law-and-order, safe streets, safe homes and safe schools, but years ago. Buffalo voters are not about to change. Ambrose J. Lane, a favor the Democratic candidate, Negro, is back on the ballot as an independent but the only thing he can do is make it a little tougher for Sedita.

Binghamton—My coin stood on edge, but leans toward Alfred J. Libous, Republican. His opponent, William P. Burns, brother of John J. Burns, state Democratic chairman, hasn't made the impact John did when he was elected mayor a few years ago. Syracuse—A light vote would change. Ambrose J. Lane, a favor the Democratic candidate, Negro, is back on the ballot as an independent but the only thing he can do is make it a little tougher for Sedita.

Poughkeepsie—Louie Fiore, Democrat. Don't know why I decided on Fiore, but couldn't find a coin. However, a friend, who asked that his name be withheld, told me Fiore would be the winner. His opponents are Thomas Milano, Republican Conservative, and the Rev. Robert W. Dixon, independent.

Middletown—Mayor Jerome Markovits, Republican, over Walter Diesseroth, Democrat, and Donald Marcellus, taxpayers candidate.

Port Jervis—Mayor Sidney Sahofsky should turn back former mayor Philip Parker, Democrat, and Russell X. Lahey, a Conservative.

If looking for a sure winner, it has to be Judge James Gibson to the Court of Appeals. Gibson has been endorsed by all four political parties.

Forest Fire Detection Project Underway

By WALTER S. CLARK

NEW PALTZ
With the woodlands throughout the area approaching the "critical stage" as far as possible threats of fires are concerned, agents of the State Conservation Department quartered on South Putt Corners Road urge residents to cooperate towards preventing forest fires this season.

As an experiment, an aerial fire detection project has been started this year and daily one or two observation flights are made in aircraft based in Bloomingburg, Orange County. Craig Knickerbocker, assistant district ranger for District 13, which encompasses the counties of Ulster, Orange, Sullivan and Rockland, said the plane spotters cover principal parts of the district to detect Bellayre, Grahamsville and High Point, are now manned. Men are on duty eight hours daily in the towers. They arrange their working schedule with weather conditions. Knickerbocker urges hunters and campers who roam through the woods to use extreme caution when building a fire. He suggests that those who do start fires for cooking or warmth, make sure the smoldering materials used in the rangers and volunteer fire many major forest fires in past years have been caused by sparks or burning papers that are carried to dry areas in fields and woods by the wind. Ranger Knickerbocker pointed out that with leaves falling from trees at this time of the year, fire hazards result especially during warm periods or when the winds drift through the woods.

Conservation department officials advise residents to never leave an open fire unattended, and they suggest that no fires be started when strong winds are prevalent. Outdoor burning by residents in many areas is prohibited, and many of the fires though annually numerous are reported to authorities. It was pointed out that that two fires of serious proportion blackened large areas of woodlands last season on Hoophole Mt. back of High Point west of Ashokan and on Guardian Mt. in the Town of Woodstock. Knickerbocker noted that the successful water drops from aircraft used in past years are still planned when needed during major woods fires. Another means of checking the spread of forest blazes involves spreading chemicals in dry areas on the outskirts of sections where serious fires are in progress. The chemical retardant coats the trees and underbrush to bring about a condition that is not flammable.

Residents are advised to obtain a conservation department permit before doing any outdoor burning, in areas where such permits are required. An official emphasized that the Fall fire season is here and it will continue for sometime, and during this period the public is urged to do everything possible to cooperate in preventing fires in the area woodlands.

Weekly Shows At Planetarium In New Paltz

NEW PALTZ

A series of weekly showing are currently being conducted at the Planetarium of the State University College here.

According to Dr. John R. Kirk, planetarium director, the showings, presented on Tuesday nights through Dec. 16, are open to public at no admission charge.

The current show at the planetarium, "A Short Trip Into Outer Space," will be presented through Nov. 18. Free tickets should be obtained from the college bookstore in order to insure seating.

From Nov. 20 through Nov. 26, the planetarium will be closed for production and maintenance, but on Dec. 2 the showings will resume for the following three Tuesdays with "Winter Sky."

Doors for each performance open at 7:30 p.m. and the shows begin promptly at 7:45 p.m. The performances last approximately 65 minutes.

Driver Hurt, Another Cited In City Crash

KINGSTON

A motorist was injured and another was cited for two vehicle and traffic violations at 7:30 a.m. today, following a collision at Washington and Linderman Avenues.

Police reports noted that the vehicles were operated by Robert Lane, 60, of 174 Linderman Avenue, and Jim Dreska, 44, of R.D. 6, Box 56, Kingston. Lane complained of an injury of the left hip and said he would see his own physician, police said. Dreska was cited for being an unlicensed operator and driving an unregistered motor vehicle.

Woman Fined On Store Charge

TOWN OF ULSTER

A 42-year-old woman was arrested Saturday night on a petit larceny charge after she was accused of stealing merchandise at the Big Scot Department store.

Security Officer Herbert O'Brien, who made the arrest at 7:15 p.m. said Mrs. Estella Ferraro, of Box 132 Glasco, pleaded guilty before Kingston Town Justice Robert Ferrigan. She was fined $15.

According to O'Brien, the woman had three bras, four flashlight batteries and a pyrex coffee percolator in her handbag, which authorities said had been taken from the store. The merchandise, valued at $11.64 was recovered.

Man Advises Mayor on Hippies

BOSTON (AP) — City Hall's psychologist in residence gets $1,500 and a thousand cards with his name on them for advising the mayor on how to handle hippies.

Dr. Stanley D. Klein, 33, rides his bicycle from the University of Massachusetts downtown campus, where he teaches, to City Hall, where he advises. During the summer of 1968, when he spent part of every day worrying about hippies clashing with police on Boston Common, he was working for nothing.

This summer, he got paid, but worked less. Mayor Kevin H.

White named a full-time "youth-liaison" staffer, but Klein still steers meetings concentrating on youth problems.

Klein, a bachelor who sports the widest sideburns of anyone in city government, thinks that good politics solved the worst of the hippie problem. What remains is an unsolved drug problem.

Firm but fair city policy has defused much of the tension between hippies and officialdom that at one point in 1968 threatened to turn into nightly riots, Klein said in an interview.

Nightly contests of will between police and exotically garbed youthful squatters caused mass arrests.

White named Klein, a friend and campaign worker, as a special assistant. Weekly meetings began under Klein's guidance, bringing together police, hippies, clergymen, the mayor's office, and neighborhood groups such as the Beacon Hill Civic Association, which resented problems that trailed after hippies.

Citizen indignation ran high over runaways, drug users, blatant narcotics peddling and traffic-snarlign impromptu protests.

Klein separates hippies into three categories: "Mature" hippies, who were part of straight society once, but dropped out. One such group lives in communal houses atop Ft. Hill in the Roxbury section, and are "an asset to the community—they live the ethic," in the words of Barney Frank, White's chief aide.

—Tourist types, who come in their bell-bottom trousers to gawk and mix, maybe buy some "pot," but who go home after they've had their fill.

—Youngsters with drug and emotional problems "who never really dropped in on society in the first place." This group along Charles Street also could be found in San Francisco's Haight-Asbury or the East Village of New York City. Klein calls them "emotionally unstable kids—into drugs in a serious way, and they have all kinds of defenses against what they call the 'sick society.' They get encouragement from some people who should know better."

The perpetual round of meetings begun by Klein and others concerned with hippies improved communication, especially with police. Some policemen actually looked forward to going to a church basement to explain their roles, Klein said.

He called Police Supt. Warren Blair, a familiar figure in mediating street disputes between protesters and police, "a great man... a man of great sensitivity."

Field Office Destroyed

Firefighters from this community and Kerhonkson early Sunday fought flames that destroyed a two-story frame house off Route 44-55 near the entrance to Lake Minnewaska. The building had been used as a field office for a construction company, and it contained equipment and records.

Fire Chief Edward Kelder of Accord said the building was engulfed in flames when firemen from the two districts arrived.

Other fires recorded at the fire control center included a blaze Friday night that heavily damaged a vacant three-story wood-frame house on South Road in Marlboro. The property had been owned by the late Michael Diviesti, it was reported.

O'Dwyer Speaks For the Young In County Talk

Former U. S. Senate hopeful Paul O'Dwyer speaking at a Democratic party rally here Saturday said "I am for young government" as he put his political support behind Edward Gormley for town supervisor.

O'Dwyer spoke to more than 140 persons at the dinner meeting sponsored by town and county Democratic candidates from Shandaken.

Supervisor candidate Gormley said O'Dwyer "made a special trip to Shandaken because he saw a young man trying to make good government."

Three Hurt; Driver Cited

Three persons were injured Sunday when the car in which they were riding left Route 32 near the Nytrallite plant and overturned.

Walter Ten Eyck, 17, of Hurley, was driving north on the highway when the vehicle went off the right shoulder and hit an embankment, recrossed the road and hit another embankment before it overturned and slid on its side to the center of the pavement.

Troopers cited TenEyck for driving while intoxicated, authorities reported. The driver was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for shock. Passengers in car were removed to the hospital by Doctors Ambulance. They were 18-year-old William Keating, of 313 Main Street, who received lacerations of the forehead and right knee, and Stephen Dittus, 16, of 202 Washington Avenue, who was treated for abrasions and contusions.

Trooper J. J. Brainard investigated and issued the summons.

Special Herring

SANDEFJORD, Norway (UPI)—The former Norwegian whaling factory ship Thorshavet will be rebuilt into a fish processing ship to catch a special type of herring, the pilchard, off the South African coast. The pilchard is used as raw material for fishmeal and fish oil. The expedition, financed by a joint Norwegian-Swedish enterprise, is expected to start operations early in 1970.

Chamber Warns Merchants: Beware of Christmas Hoaxes

Ascertain conditions of sales and obtain guarantees in writing. Examine purchases before Christmas. Don't expect transient vendors to be around after the holiday to listen to complaints.

Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce today warned shoppers to be wary of sharp operators who step up their activities during the Christmas season.

Len Cane, executive vice president of the local Chamber, said these seasonal swindlers drain millions of dollars annually from consumers and businessmen, capitalizing on the Christmas rush and the fact that people tend to be more generous and trusting at this time of year.

According to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local Chamber is affiliated through membership, the Christmas gyp has many guises:

He may be a street corner peddler hawking cheap watches, jewelry and other items supposedly at a fraction of the retail price when the merchandise arrives, if it ever does. it may be a cheap imitation of the item thought to have been ordered.

He may be only a telephone voice making appeals for some unknown charitable organization or a self-described needy individual seeking clothing, food or funds.

He may be a glib, well-dressed salesman harassing businessmen who buy gifts in quantity at Christmas. Sales may be attempted in offices, at factory gates, on the street or door-to-door.

NBBB said the perfume hoax is one of the most widespread

The most common perfume racket involves the sale of well-known brands of colognes and toilet waters rebottled in small purse-size containers by companies having no connection with the original manufacturers. The containers are similar in sizes and appearance to those used to sell small quantities of genuine perfumes, and the public is fooled into believing

Youngest Vassar Trustee Has Quick Sense of Humor

NEW YORK (AP) — Alison Bernstein has just become the youngest trustee in the history of Vassar College. At 22, she's a woman with a keen sense of purpose, a quick sense of humor and a disappointed mother.

A Jewish girl, Miss Bernstein said her mother was delighted with the news of her appointment, "but would have been even happier if I'd said I was getting married."

Miss Bernstein switches from serious statements to humor without apparent effort.

On the one hand, she is deeply involved with the problems of the campus. On the other, she jokes, "At the age of 26, I'll probably be a has-been."

At one moment she talks seriously of her ambition to be a college teacher. Then, interrupting herself, she says, "It's kind of a reverse route to be a trustee first and then a teacher."

Miss Bernstein, a native New Yorker, and a summa cum laude graduate from Vassar last June, is a candidate for a doctorate in American history at Columbia University. Her election to the board of trustees of the fashionable Eastern girls' school, one of the so-called "Seven Sister Schools," was announced last week.

In an interview the following day, Miss Bernstein said she was "flabbergasted" at the new of her selection to serve for 3½ years to fulfill the unexpired term of trustee who resigned.

Musing on the reasons for her new job, Miss Bernstein said: "I was active in campus affairs.

I worked last year as a kind of mediator between the students and the administration and the trustees. As student body president, I was responsible for articulating student views."

She said she worked to end a dispute last year over the continuation of an urban studies program. "All that was needed was to get the two sides together."

Discussing student unrest in general, Miss Bernstein said, "Most of the students' sense of helplessness and powerlessness is legitimate. In general, I'm very sympathetic with the aims and ideals espoused by radical students, but I've not yet found it necessary to resort to violence and I don't think I'll ever find that to be the most satisfactory route."

A Public Letter From Jim Tyrrell To Frank Koenig:

In a final moment of desperation, Mr. Koenig is childishly trying to make an issue of the fact that I was not born in Kingston, and for that flimsy reason is asking you to vote for him and against me.

He has deliberately overlooked the fact that his own mother, Marie Koenig, was not born in Kingston and yet was elected Supervisor from the old 9th Ward. Would he now say this was a mistake, and she should have been defeated for that reason?

To further refresh Mr. Koenig's very short memory, may I point out that another member of his own Party, Hon. Wm. F. Edelmuth, was not born in Kingston, yet, was elected Mayor and re-elected to that office. Two years ago, Mr. Edelmuth was a successful candidate for election to the Ulster County Legislature from the City of Kingston At-Large. Would Mr. Koenig say this was wrong and he should have been defeated because he was not born in Kingston? Mr. Edelmuth is now a candidate for re-election to that Board. Would Mr. Koenig now tell the voters of Kingston that Mr. Edelmuth should be defeated because he is not native born ? ? ? ? ?

Mr. Koenig could research the records of his own Party and find many candidates for public office who just didn't happen to be born where they now seek office.

For Mr. Koenig's edification — the book of political statistics is just full of very imposing names of Congressmen, Governors, Lieutenant Governors, Senators, Mayors, Councilmen, Council Presidents, etc., none of whom were born in the communities they now serve, have served, or seek to serve. I might cite the case of the late Robert F. Kennedy who was the Democratic Senator from New York. We all know Mr. Kennedy was born in Massachusetts.

It would be a safe bet that 99% of the City Managers now serving Cities in all our 50 States were not born in the Cities they now serve..

MR. KOENIG - - - YOU DID NOT CHOOSE THE CITY OF YOUR BIRTH. I CHOSE THE CITY OF YOUR BIRTH AS MY HOME FOR NOW AND FOR THE FUTURE. YOUR LOVE FOR — AND PRIDE IN KINGSTON IS NO GREATER THAN MINE. YOU INHERITED YOUR AFFECTIONS I HAD TO DEVELOP MINE.

MR. KOENIG - - - I WANT TO BE MAYOR OF YOUR BIRTHPLACE TO DO SO MANY OF THE THINGS THAT HAVE BEEN NEGLECTED BY MANY OF YOUR NATIVE-BORN MAYORS. THIS MEANS EVERYTHING IN MY BOOK, MR. KOENIG.

IN CLOSING, MAY I SUGGEST THAT YOU ASK THE HON. RAYMOND W. GARRAGHAN WHAT HE THINKS ABOUT MAYORS WHO JUST DIDN'T HAPPEN TO BE BORN IN KINGSTON.

I WAS BORN CLOSER TO KINGSTON THAT HE WAS, MR. KOENIG. AND, I ASK NOT WHAT KINGSTON CAN DO FOR ME BUT RATHER WHAT I CAN DO FOR KINGSTON MY ADOPTED CITY.

Annapolis Mayor Meets the People

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — When racial rioting threatened to erupt in Annapolis in the muggy summer nights of 1968, Mayor Roger W. Moyer walked the streets of the Nero wards, urging black youths to cool it. It was territory the 34-year-old Moyer knows well and territory where he is well-known. Perhaps, as a great many Annapolitans, black and white, believe Moyer deserves the credit for keeping the peace in Annapolis while nearby Washington and Baltimore erupted in flaming violence. Annapolis escaped with only minor vandalism. The young Democratic mayor, now early in his second four-year term of office, rated race relations as the major problem facing the city when he took office in 1965. He attacked the problem with an enthusiasm uncommon in Annapolis city government. Moyer, unlike his predecessors, did not treat the job halfheartedly because it was a part-time position with a token salary. In dealing with the people's needs Moyer has involved the city very deeply with a number of federal programs, particularly urban renewal and housing. Since he became mayor, the city of about 30,000 has added some 400 units of public housing, with more under construction. It also has its first public neighborhood youth centers to play swimming pool. Moyer is immensely popular in on the drums with a rock with Negro voters, but he is the band at a teen-age dance. And object of bitter animosity from when he gave up his coaching many middle and low-income duties he continued to keep whites close tabs on high school sports activities. Although he won re-election this year in both the primary and general elections with relative ease, he lost by a sizeable margin to his more conservative Democratic primary opponent in the ward which has the heaviest concentration of low-income voters. Perhaps one key to Moyer's popularity is that he has carried out his programs without any increase in city taxes. "By constant contact, I know what the people are thinking, out what they feel and what they increase in city taxes," Moyer says. "You get out and let the people know that you care."

WHAT THIS MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN IS ALL ABOUT!

For the past several weeks, there has been much activity on the part of three men who seek the office of Mayor of the City of Kingston for the next two years.

And if the campaign started slowly, it certainly didn't finish that way. The tumult and shouting has been enough to confuse even the most discerning voter—hence, it might be well to review the real issues involved.

All can have stated—and we believe sincerely—that they want to help Kingston move ahead; to help solve its many problems. However, the running of a five million dollar corporation—which our City is — requires more than just good intentions. And herein lies, perhaps the pivotal issue of this campaign: Who is the most qualified candidate to run our city?

Who is the most qualified by training and temperament to run a City which will face some of its most serious problems in the years ahead. Problems such as Urban Renewal, tax reduction on real property, the Kingston Arterial and the need for adequate recreational facilities.

In short—there is too much at stake to risk choosing the wrong man.

In our judgment, Frank Koenig is the right man for the job. Eight years experience in Kingston City government, graduate of Siena College; successful businessman, lifelong resident: these are but some of the credentials Frank will bring to the office of Mayor of Kingston.

So, in the final analysis, the key issue is simply: Who is best qualified to serve? The answer to that question must come from those of us who are sincerely interested in our City's future and who will not permit partisan politics to obscure that responsibility.

Support Frank Koenig for Mayor and assure responsible leadership for the important years ahead.

"If Unable To Purchase Any Advertised Item . . . Please Request A RAIN CHECK!"

An Open Letter to the Voters of the TOWN OF ESOPUS

During the past few days, there has come to my attention a letter circulated by our present supervisor. Let's set the record straight on a few of the items he "alone" takes credit for:

1. Employee Retirement Plan . . . the groundwork for this was laid during the prior administration and was "news" to him when he took office. If any credit should be given for this, it should go to the present Councilman, Sol Rosenthal, who was the driving force behind it.
2. Town Clean-up Week . . . This has been in effect for years, the time set at the discretion of the Superintendent of Highways.
3. Under the late Justice Allan Dargie, most of the troublesome junk car "problem areas" were cleaned up. There has not been one conviction on this count during the present supervisor's term of office.
4. Where is this program for the benefit of the Senior Citizens mentioned in his letter?
5. It's true the Constable force was completely revamped and is now operating well under the allocated budget, BUT this was accomplished over the strenuous objections of the present supervisor and his friends. Thank the dedicated and courageous Republican Town Board members for the improvement on the Constable force. What our present supervisor doesn't tell you is that it took 4 special meetings to produce a budget for our town, something which our previous supervisor took care of in one meeting.

ALSO, where was our present Supervisor at 10 A. M., Tuesday Oct. 21, when a representative of the N. Y. State Dept. of Transportation arrived to go over the "Sop Sign" situation in Port Ewen? He not only did not notify any other Town Board member or the Town Clerk, EVEN THO he received the notice of the meeting in a letter dated October 7, 1969, a copy of which was shown the Town Clerk that morning. This, my good neighbors, is the kind of "petty politics" our present supervisor has been engaged in for 2 years, to the detriment of our town.

Paul Mercier, Campaign Chairman for the election of William Zacher as Supervisor for the Town of Esopus.

Sponsored by the Town of Esopus Republican Club

An Open Letter to the Voters of the Town of Ulster . . .

Several months ago I made the decision to place my convictions before my party. I was convinced that Republican Party leadership in the Town of Ulster stood for the status quo; against any change.

From my past experience on the Town Board and the Planning Board, I know that prompt action is essential if we are to straighten out our problems. We need zoning and other restrictive legislation to effect planned growth and to preserve our property values. We need recreational facilities as an investment in our children. We need action on Albany Avenue and 9-W to prevent strangling ourselves with ever-increasing traffic. These and other problems cannot be solved by the Supervisor alone, but they can be solved if first the problems are acknowledged and the combined efforts of a large number of our citizens are focused on their solution.

Throughout this campaign, the Republican leadership has acknowledged none of these problems preferring to stand pat as they have in the past. As a concerned resident, I could hardly support such inaction—hence, my decision to run for the office I seek.

The leadership implies that I have been disloyal; yet many Republicans have indicated that they would support me if only I were their party's candidate. But my whole point is that if this were the case, I would then have to accept, out of party loyalty, a status quo platform rather than one of positive action for our town.

The issues are clear. It's now time for you to make the decision that will affect you and our town for a long time to come. Surely such an important decision should be above partisan politics.

Sincerely,
ROBERT STEDGE

Feminine Brigades in Philippine Presidential Campaign

MANILA (UPI)—The Philippine presidential campaign is more than just a battle between President Ferdinand E. Marcos and Senator Sergio Osmena Jr. It is also a contest between "Imelda" and "Minnie".

Imelda, 38-year-old beauty queen wife of Marcos, and Minnie, 24-year-old fashion model daughter of Osmena, have organized separate feminine brigades to woo and win votes for their favorite candidate.

Imelda has her "Blue Ladies", and Minnie the "Osmena Pearls." They are campaigning for the Nov. 11 election.

The Blue Ladies are wives and daughters of cabinet officials, close friends and supporters of Marcos. They are veterans of the 1965 presidential campaign in which they helped Marcos win his first presidential term. They earned their title with their distinctive dark blue shift dresses and red scarves.

The Osmena Pearls were formed by Minnie Osmena early this year when her father launched his candidacy. These young volunteer campaign workers can be spotted by their yellow blouses and blue mini-skirts. Miss Osmena said she named her group after pearls to connote "beauty, youth and endurance."

Imelda An Asset

Imelda Marcos, mother of three children and winner of two beauty titles, remains one of her husband's top political assets. Like the president, she keeps a tough schedule in the current campaign, speaking at rallies or singing to crowds.

For the past four years, the Blue Ladies have been Imelda's prime boosters—financial and moral—in her social and civic projects.

"I am very proud and happy for what the Blue Ladies are doing and I hope that more civic minded women will join us in our crusade," Imelda said.

Four years ago the Blue Ladies were a tight-knit group composed of the Marcos' intimate friends. Since then they have become a Philippine-wide organization with 6 million members, including non-voting girl students.

The organization now reaches down to the barrio (village) level with its members speaking or singing before gatherings, distributing pins, combs, t-shirts and political brochures, or simply shaking hands and courting votes for Marcos.

Mrs. Marcos is the group's honorary chairman. Mrs. Pacita Madrigal Gonzalez, administrator of Philippine cottage industries, is the national chairman.

The Blue Ladies, according to Mrs. Gonzalez, "don't belong to anybody but to the people and to the whole country."

Minnie's Dazzling Pearls

Miss Osmena, who studied at Marymount College in Tarrytown, N.Y., and later became one of the most sought-after fashion models in Manila, personally directs the "Pearls." Under Minnie's personal supervision, the girls campaign house to house or visit hospitals and factories to win votes for Osmena. In Manila alone, there are 300 active volunteer pearls, many of them in their early 20s.

"We talk, smile, help and cure the economic ills of the country. Dad, being a summa cum laude in economics, is, I believe, most capable to handle these problems."

"Since economics is the major problem of this country, I am convinced that an economist is what is needed to highlight the Osmena Pearls' vice president Fernando Lopez, and Adelaida (Baby) Magsaysay, 32, wife of Osmena's teammate, Sen. Genaro Magsaysay.

Mrs. Lopez is a well-known social and cultural patroness in the Philippines.

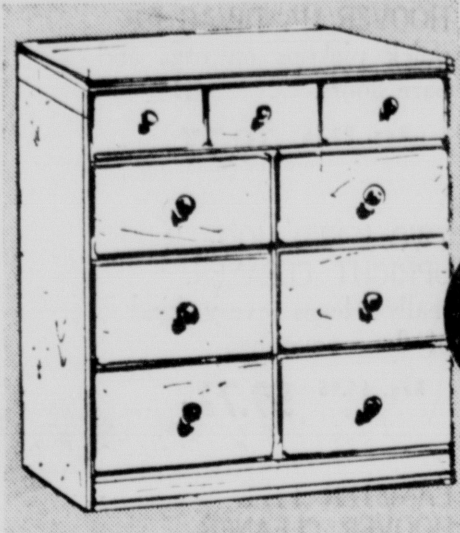

Mrs. Magsaysay is no stranger to politics. She is married to the brother of the late President Ramon Magsaysay. Her father was senate president and her brother is governor of Rizal Province, just outside Manila.

We Endorse Koenig

In the general election, Tuesday November 4, registered voters of the City of Kingston in the climax of a local political campaign, which will not set a record for restraint, will elect a mayor to serve for two years beginning January 1, 1970.

As far as the mayoral campaign is concerned, Kingston for the past several weeks has been far from "Dullsville."

During this lively campaign, The Freeman has opened its columns to the three candidates, seeking to be the administrator to run this $5,000,000 corporation, to present their cases so that the people could evaluate their qualifications, study the issues, and base their decision on their programs and their approach to solving the problems and meeting the challenges that lie ahead.

We believe the people should be given the opportunity of finding out what the election is all about so that they can vote with intelligence and discernment. An uninformed vote is worse than no vote at all.

We realize that the time is long since past for telling people how to vote, but we remind all eligible voters to really know what and who they are voting for and then go to the polls and cast their ballots.

The new administration must find solutions to a number of pressing problems including the urban renewal projects, which has turned out to be a monumental failure symbolizing the waste and inefficiency of government.

Frank Koenig, Democratic-Liberal candidate, places urban renewal in the first priority recognizing the importance of exerting the influence of the mayor's office to lead the agency to a successful conclusion of the projects. Urban renewal affects the welfare of the community and its entire tax structure. We wholeheartedly agree in his judgment.

Koenig also would form a non-partisan Advisory Council, comprised of well respected and interested citizens representing a cross section of the people. The Council would work directly with and be associated with the mayor's office in formulating programs. The welfare of the city transcends politics. We are in accord with this innovation.

The Democratic-Liberal candidate also would continue some of the constructive business practices of the present administration that would reduce the city's debts to avoid heavy interest charges. Sound fiscal policies and their relation to real property taxes are of the first importance to a community. Koenig gives evidence of having a grasp on the city's economics.

Antiquated sewer system, city rezoning, adequate water supply, police and firemanic services, street construction and maintenance and long-range planning for orderly growth have gained the concentration of Koenig. We believe he has the imagination, clear thinking and resolution to properly conduct the business of the city and accomplish what the people wish and expect.

We believe Koenig's educational background in economics, his governmental experience as mayor's secretary, alderman and alderman-at-large together with his own local business interests have helped round him out as an acceptable executive. We wholeheartedly endorse him.

Thank You, Kingston Daily Freeman

If elected Mayor of your city, I shall strive to merit your confidence.

Exchange Student Program Starts Fund-Raising Drive

BOICEVILLE—The American Field Service Chapter of Ontario Central School this week started its fund campaign which will allow a student to go abroad next year and also enable another foreign student to visit here.

Mrs. Ned Buoymaster, 14 Evergreen Lane, Woodstock, finance chairman invited the entire community to participate in this far-reaching endeavor. Letters of solicitation are being mailed to area residents.

The local Field Service Chapter is seven years old.

In late 1962 the Ontario Student Council and Parent Teachers Association inaugurated a foreign student program. Since its inception, our community has been host to Sener Ozer from Turkey; Elizabeth Steele from England; Therese Mercat, Switzerland; Claude Carrette, France; Mauricio De Barros, Brazil; Rosslyn Tiller, Australia; Efrén Sotto, the Philippines and, this year, Karuna Anuntkosol, Thailand.

Two of our local teenagers have been part of the Americans Abroad Program. Nora Vieberg lived and studied in Luxemburg and Christina Gardner in Germany.

Friendship and increased understanding among the people of the world have been the aims of AFS since 1914. It was founded as a volunteer ambulance service with the French armies and carried thousands of wounded in World War I. Graduate fellowships for French universities were instituted between the wars, and

Each year AFS brings more than 3,000 teenagers from 60 foreign countries to the United States to attend secondary schools, live as members of American families and participate in community activities. Almost 1,500 young Americans yearly are given an equivalent experience in more than 40 countries abroad. As a result, mean-young people discover their similarities and learn to respect their differences.

The impact on more than 50,000 young people who, since 1947, have participated in AFS programs varies. Many of them now hold positions of responsibility in their native countries.

Each, in his own way, is contributing the kind of lasting understanding that comes only from personal involvement. Thousands of letters from AFSers have been received. "I high school students contribute never knew I could learn so much, see so much, grow so much, or love so many people."

"It is a chance to experience what friendship can really mean."

"It makes the world smaller and our hearts a little bigger."

The language is different but the words remain the same: friendship . . . understanding . . . involvement . . . self-awareness. These are the basic concepts. This is what American Field Service is all about.

AFS is principally operated by unpaid volunteers. Communities form volunteer chapters to raise the necessary contribution for each student. The high school students contribute additional funds. Many organizations, as well as individuals, give generously to the program, which could not have grown as it has without their cooperation.

Voters Service Offered by LWV And Girl Scouts

WOODSTOCK

Girl Scouts in the area participated in the Election Voter Service activities of the Woodstock League of Women Voters.

Mrs. James Greeson's Girl Scout Troop, 43 of the Ulster Hurley Neighborhood, assisted Mrs. Ronald Manka of the League with distribution of Nonpartisan League material at Masons Store, West Hurley and the Grand Union, Woodstock. Mrs. Walter Rhodes, League member, aided the girls in making election posters that were placed throughout West Hurley and Woodstock.

The Girl Scouts will be present at the Woodstock polls on election Day, Tuesday from 4 to 6 p.m. They will offer babysitting services for children who accompany their parents to the polls at this time. These activities have enabled the Girl Scouts to complete some of the requirements necessary for the Active Citizen Badge.

If you have not received a copy of the 1969 Facts for Voters or the Woodstock Facts, contact Mrs. Carl Grant, voter service chairman of the Woodstock League. This material is also available at many stores and banks in the area.

The Woodstock League is offering rides to the polls again this year. Those who are in need of transportation and would like to take advantage of this service may contact Mrs. Grant.

Chest Drive Needs Boost

WOODSTOCK

The Woodstock-West Hurley Community Chest fund drive enters its final three weeks with less than spectacular results to date, according to Paul L. DeLisio, drive co-chairman.

"Our goal is $11,000 and to date, we are only one-third of the way," he said. "The major problem has not been in the pledges as those have increased from the previous year, but in contacting contributors due to the lack of workers. Therefore, we would appreciate the services of anyone in the Woodstock-West Hurley area who would be interested in assisting in the fund drive for 15 Community Chest agencies."

Volunteers may contact Mrs. Monroe Longendyke, residential fund drive chairman.

"We have received exceptional assistance from a group of young people organized by Mrs. Jean Turmo in soliciting contributions in some parts of Woodstock," DeLisio said. "They are working very hard and we appreciate the courtesy and generosity shown to them."

"Let's all get behind this annual appeal now for the final three weeks so that we may reach our community goal. Volunteer to help in some small way and send your contribution directly to Mrs. Longendyke, Glasco Turnpike; Mrs. Turmo, Mountainview Road, or DeLisio, P.O. Box 333, all Woodstock," he concluded.

Tuesday Club Notice

The November 11th meeting of the Tuesday Club of Woodstock will be a "fun" session to be held at The Reformed Church Hall on the Village Green at 1:30 p.m.

One of the items on the agenda will be a guessing game. Members are requested to bring a picture of their mother and father.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Inez Hall, Mrs. Josephine Neher, Mrs. Emily Harrington and Miss Annette Dietz. Mrs. Elzora Martin of Shady is the president.

Scouts Prepare For Investiture Rites

Brownie Girl Scouts, ages 7-9, are preparing for investiture and rededication. Each troop invests the girls in their own troop who have never been in Girl Scouts before and all others rededicate themselves to the Brownie Promise.

Investiture is the most important ceremony in Brownies, and parents are urged to share this experience with their daughters.

Individual troop activities in the past month have centered around Fire Prevention Week. Brownie Troop 45, under the leadership of Mrs. Nancy Gakenheimer and Mrs. Barbara Coppey, visited Mt. Marion Firehouse on October 9. Carlton King, assistant fire chief, spoke on the different pieces of equipment and their functions in fighting fires.

Troop 45 held its Investiture October 23. Troop 37 had a visit PAGE 32—SAUGERTIES from Fire Chief Thomas Brennan Jr. of Centerville-Cedar Grove Fire district on October 16. The Brownies were informed as to ways they could help prevent fires and fire hazards. The new fire truck and breathing apparatus were inspected thoroughly by the girls. Mrs. Paul Winter, leader of the troop, is working with the girls in planning their Investiture for the early part of November.

Brownie Troop 202, with Mrs. Carol Vozdik leader, went for a tour of the Saugerties Post Sawyer Homemakers

Taxes, Updating Urged to Solve Cities' Crises

HARRIMAN, N.Y. (AP) — A blue ribbon conference has recommended state income taxes and modernization of state and local governments as methods of solving the crisis of the cities.

In a report approved Sunday, the 36th annual American Assembly warned that "unless the role of the state governments is substantially reformed within the next decade, the states as effective political entities will cease to exist."

During four days of meetings the participants debated whether the states were willing and able to make a constructive contribution toward solving the urban crisis.

At the closing session Sunday they reached informal agreement on an eight-page report recommending tax reform, revenue-sharing, government reorganization and increased political participation by all citizens.

The conference was sponsored by the League of Women Voters, the National Municipal League, Urban America Inc., the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures and the Urban Coalition.

The 83 participants included two congressmen, two former governors, state legislators, housing officials, newspaper editors and publishers, professors and businessmen.

Announces Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today announced job training programs for about 4,000 persons in 24 states under the Manpower Development and Training Act.

The new programs will cost $6.7 million to train persons in such jobs as nurse's aides, welders and stenographers in order to fill demands for skilled workers. About 850,000 workers have been trained under the program since 1962.

World Community Day November 7th

Church Women United of Kingston will gather at Trinity United Methodist Church on Friday, Nov. 7, to observe World Community Day. This is one of the three annual world-wide observances conducted by Church Women United. As part of its long range emphasis on social and economic development, the celebration this year will be on the theme "The Poverty in Kingston and Our Response to It."

Mrs. James Veatch, chairman of the day, has announced the program which will begin at 11 a.m. with a panel discussion on the theme. Participating panelists include Mrs. Malinda Davis, coordinator of the Rondout Multi-Media Service Center; the Rev. Edward Farrelly of St. Mary's Church; Mrs. Edward Ford, representing Kingston Neighbors; and Edward Parker, Executive Director of Community Action. Time will be given for discussion. Those attending the day's events are being asked to bring a sandwich to share during the luncheon period. Coffee and dessert will be provided by the women of Trinity Church.

Beginning at 1 p.m., a service of worship will be held. Among those participating in the service will be the Rev. Ebenezer Mane, associate pastor of Fair St. Reformed Church and a native of India. The message will be brought by the Rev. Donald Buddle, recently installed pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Church women of the Kingston area are urged to attend this important event. "With 80 per cent of the world's population living on less than $300 a year and 15 per cent of the people of USA living on less than $1500 a year," said Mrs. W. A. Studwell, president of CWU of Kingston, "Christians in affluent countries must act both by exerting pressure on the government and by giving immediate aid through their offerings."

Three New Members Recently Appointed To Ahavath Israel Board of Trustees

Ephraim Propp, president of Congregation Ahavath Israel, has announced the appointment of three new members to the Board of Trustees of the Congregation. Harold Seidel, Al Rose, and Henry Singer are the recent appointees.

New members of the Congregation include: Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bernstein, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Harris, Seymour Kogon, Mr. and Mrs. William Lehrer, Mr. and Mrs. William Ohsie, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Max Salomon, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Stein, Mrs. Ann Sussin, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Werner.

The Congregation will sponsor its annual Ball and Stage Show on Saturday evening, Nov. 22 in the Social Hall, 10 Lucas Avenue. The public is invited to attend this event, which will include a stage show and dancing. Dr. Murray Greene is chairman of the gala and Arthur Schiff is in charge of the journal-program which is published in conjunction with the event.

Former Miss Saugerties Wed Recently

Miss Katherine Amelia Moose, Miss Saugerties of 1957 and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Moose, West Camp, became the bride of Allen Benito Berzal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Salustiano Berzal, Saugerties, at St. Mary of the Snow Church, Post Street, Saugerties on Sunday, Oct. 26.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles Kaufman officiated at the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Alvin Messersmith. Mrs. Roy Potts, organist, accompanied Mrs. Herman Knaust Jr. who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white gladioli, chrysanthemums, and pompons decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a brocade Victorian gown. Circles of pearls accented the neckline and waist of the gown. A Camelot chapeau held her English imported silk illusion veiling which extended out beyond her train. She carried an arm bouquet of gladioli and ti leaves, tied with white velvet ribbons.

Mrs. Eleanor M. DeForest, Lewisboro, served as matron of honor for her sister. Attendants were the Misses Brenda Berzal, Saugerties; Carol Berzal, Suitland, Md.; both sisters of the bridegroom; Colleen Paulak, Catskill; and the Mmes. Sandra Berzal, Saugerties, and Tulu Berzal, Catskill.

kill, both sisters-in-law of the bridegroom. Miss Star Berzal, niece of the bridegroom, Saugerties, was junior bridesmaid. They wore green velvet Juliet style gowns, accented with gold. Gold Juliet chapeaux complemented their gowns, and they carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums and ti leaves, tied with emerald velvet ribbons.

Ronald Berzal, brother of the bridegroom, Catskill, served as best man. Ushers were Vincent Berzal, brother of the bridegroom, Saugerties; Joseph Comito, Saugerties; Joseph Paulak, Paul Poplock, both of Catskill; and Edward Reynolds, Woodstock. David K. DeForest, nephew of the bride, Lewisboro, was junior usher.

A reception for 140 guests was held at Sawyerkill Country Club, Saugerties.

For her wedding trip to Hawaii and Las Vegas, the bride wore a two piece ensemble of light pink wool, styled with a chinchilla collar.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School and is employed as a secretary by IBM.

Her husband is an alumnus of St. Patrick's High School, Catskill, and Villanova University. He served four years with the U.S. Navy where he earned the rank of Second Class Petty Officer. He is employed by Nelsen Redi-Mix Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Berzal will reside at Fini-de-Mondo, Cedar Grove.

Couple Celebrates 56th Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. FRANK W. PARSLOW SR., of 62 Ponckhockie Street, Kingston, celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Oct. 26. Married in 1913 at Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. Parslow have four children, Mrs. Joseph (Charlotte) Nerone, Frank Parslow Jr., Mrs. John (Ruth) Karol, all of Kingston; and Mrs. Roy (Shirley) Mick of Vermont. They have 11 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren. Mr. Parslow had been a fireman on the steamer Mary Powell. He worked as caretaker at the St. Ursula Academy property for 30 years and is now self-employed as gardener, maintenance and landscape worker on various large Kingston estates. Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

There is no place where the grapevine of rumor flourishes more than in the Intensive Care Unit of a hospital. Most of the patients are very ill. They are attached to glass bottles which drip fluid into their veins, they are hooked up to electrocardiographs, they are weighed and measured, and X-rayed and washed and fed through glass tubes all day long.

But even if he is pretty sick, a person must observe what goes on. Why are four nurses clustered around that bed? One hears that it is a serious accident case. How does one hear it? Just a rumor. At seven A.M. the door opens and a stretcher is wheeled in escorted by two armed policemen. Is this an attempted murder? When a couple of hours later all the curtains are drawn around each bed and the stretcher, unseen, is wheeled out again, the worst is suspected. Murder indeed!

Only later, one of the doctors will admit that it was a heart case, that the police provided the ambulance since no other was available, and that the patient did, indeed, die.

The doctor will occasionally tell a curious patient who is not critically ill what is going on. But not the pretty nurses. Ask them what is wrong with the old lady with tubes in her nose and they will smile sweetly and ask if you are ready for lunch.

One should not be curious but in fact there is nothing so absorbing as an account of somebody else's troubles. Told, that is, by a disinterested expert like a doctor. If you must eat in the hospital lunchroom, your relative being cared for upstairs, you may, if you are lucky, get a doctor to bring his tray to your table. If you can get two doctors your day is made. They will talk about their cases all through the meal, the complicated surgery, the electric shock, the leg that must come off, the girl that swallowed arsenic. No names, mind you, but impersonally, anonymously, they tell everything and being human you are all ears.

Back in the Intensive Care Unit, where you are permitted for five minutes every hour on the hour, you brighten the day of your ill relative by some of the medical stories you have just heard, leaving out the gory details. But your relative, too, will have his stories. A man whose wife was a patient in the Unit got roaringly angry with her, swore, shouted, and referred to her brother in highly uncomplimentary terms; all the while she lay on her bed and did not answer a word. Would this aggravate her illness? No reference was made to it, of course, by the nurses.

One of the patients was a loveable five-year old boy who had been in an accident which necessitated considerable surgery. "I'm going to get him out of there," the surgeon said. "Too much going on. He ought not to have all that excitement."

But to the patients who are well enough to see and hear, the excitement is fine. The day must pass somehow. What better way than to watch calamity, real or imagined.

Lecture Planned At Vassar College

Wolfgang Stechow, Mary Conover Mellon Professor of Art at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, will give a lecture on "Rembrandt and the Old Testament" at the college at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The lecture, sponsored by the art department, will be in Taylor Hall.

A native of Germany, Professor Stechow received the PhD degree from the University of Göttingen. A former member of the faculty at the University of Michigan and Williams College, he is professor emeritus and lecturer in history of art at Oberlin College. From 1964 to 1966 he was advisory curator of European art at the Cleveland Museum of Art. In 1966-67 he was visiting scholar in art at Vassar.

His most recent publications include "Dutch Landscape Painting of the Seventeenth Century," "Northern Renaissance Art, 1400-1600: Sources and Documents," and "Rubens and the Classical Tradition." He has prepared various museum and exhibition catalogs and contributes to several art magazines.

Mrs. Landers also received fourth place mention. The winning entries were selected from among 28 dried arrangements which had been submitted in the exhibit, "Savings of Fall Splendor." Emphasis was on conservation with the need to develop concern for preservation, and wise use of plant material. Winners were selected on the basis of a popular vote of those who viewed the display during the past two weeks. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Supermarkets Finally Make Moscow Scene

By GAY PAULEY
MOSCOW (UPI) — Transplant it to the United States and it would be almost typical of that chunk of Americana, the supermarket.

Here in the Soviet capital, it's called a gastronomie and it's the newest mode of shopping offered women who for years have queued patiently at counters of little shops to purchase at one the day's supply of bread, at another meat, at another vegetables and at still another pastries or other needs.

But Moscow's showcase gastronomie, the Novorabatsky, aims to put out almost every household shopping need under one roof and offer self service. Both are immense breakthroughs in shopping convenience which the Soviet women just never have had but which the Americans take for granted.

"The future belongs to selfservice," said Mrs. Svoboda Volodina, manager of the whole self-service floor of the spaciouly modern two-level building housing the gastronomie on Kalinin Street.

"Almost all the new food stores are putting in self-service sections," she said as we toured the gastronomie. But there's a "go slow" on total conversion. The state, which of course owns the Kalinin gastronomie, the largest in the USSR, wants to determine just how profitable self-service is compared to the old.

So, only the second floor of the gastronomie is Mrs. Volodina's domain. On the first floor both escalators and stairs connect the two, the picture again is the traditional one of individual counters where the consumer queues to select fish, poultry, cheeses, other dairy products, fruits and vegetables. And here the woman goes through the complicated method of paying select product, gets slip showing how much owed, pay a cashier, get back in line with receipt to pick up the purchase.

Many a U.S. supermarket chain would like to have the spaces still to be filled that you find at the Novorabatsky — the shopping complex has about 3,500 square yards.

Checkout counters are much like those of U.S. supermarkets in the self-service department, in that a cashier totes up all the items in the "maybe" bag the women still use them over the new carts. The "maybe" got its name, I was told, because in leaner days and shorter food supplies the housewife always carried one — "maybe" she would on this day find something that hadn't been on the counters for weeks.

Modern self-service, yes. Modern cash registers, no. The cashiers still tote up sale on the ancient abacus.

Informal Tea for Librarians

Kingston Schools' elementary librarians were guests Thursday, Oct. 30 at an informal tea hosted by the Kingston Lions Children's Library. Mrs. William Markle, children's librarian, was in charge of the event, assisted by Mrs. Mildred Buddington and Mrs. Harry Matzen.

The Children's Room was opened on the lower floor of the main library in March, 1958, as a Junior League project. In 1965, it was moved to the adjacent building as a Lion's Club project. There are approximately 2,000 active borrowers of the 5,000 books now available.

Selections include all the Caldecott-Newbery books; three volume set of the Horn Books on the Illustrators, dating from 1744 to 1966; Junior Book of Authors; practically every book listed in Children's Literature courses; book shelf for parents; and books of special interest to Scout and Brownie leaders; numerous reference books.

Among the services offered are school visits, field trips by classes in public and parochial schools; material for teachers to assist their projects and supplement their own school supply; Children's Home; and Roundout Day Care Center.

From October to April, story hours are held with programs provided by volunteers from various civic organizations. The librarian also provides a picture book hour program during the same months. The Children's Room is open 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Couldn't resist dropping a note when I read about the mice getting into one of your antacid pills.

My mother lives in the mountains and has a lot of field mice.

Her doctor told her to cut her thyroid pills in half. The second half kept disappearing as she hadn't returned it to the bottle.

You guessed it, you never in your life saw a more fearless bunch of mice. Not only did they run, jump, and play in the same room she was in, but they would come up for a romp on the bed when she was lying on it!

Mrs. E.S.B.

Dear Heloise:

I recently attended a church-sponsored rummage sale and came across what I think is a wonderful idea for those who sew a great deal.

Someone had given a box of patterns—all sizes. These were priced at two for a nickel—a real bargain!

Cathleen Partlow

Dear Heloise:

For patching plaster on a painted wall my clever husband mixed his spackling compound with leftover paint (same color as the wall) instead of water.

It was a perfect match and all in one simple operation.

Mrs. J. E. Reeves

Dear Heloise:

I was searching for my fine chain necklace and when I finally found it, it was in a complete mess.

After removing all the knots, I got one of my plastic bobbins from the sewing machine and wound the chain around that.

No more knots and the bobbin takes up very little space in my jewelry box.

Vicki

Dear Heloise:

If you are one of the many of us that use a hand can opener, you might find this hint helpful.

Sometimes when trying to open a shortening can or other similar can, the opener just won't fit.

Try turning the can upside down and open the bottom instead. I think you'll find that it will work perfectly.

Ruth Rivers

Dear Heloise:

My hint is for people who make stuffed toys or sew clothes on small dolls.

I was turning a cloth dog that I had made and was trying to use my scissors. This didn't prove very successful at all so I thought of using a stick like we use in caramel apples.

Made it so much easier to get the tail and foot pushed out just right.

Since then I have also tucked a tongue depressor into my sewing box. This has been very helpful also.

By using these sticks there is nothing sharp and no danger of spoiling seams or cutting the material.

Sawyers Please Hoople: Upset Roosevelt, 30-0

By JIM MASSA

SAUGERTIES High School's inspired football team ruined any hopes for a Roosevelt DCSL championship by romping to a stunning 30-0 victory over the Presidents here Saturday afternoon.

Seither's charges made the in comparable Freeman selector—Major Amos B. Hoople — look like a million dollars. Hoople was the only area selector to pick the Sawyers over Roosevelt which recently snapped a 19 game winning streak of Poughkeepsie High.

The Sawyers, fire that was lighted last week received more fuel this week from the entire team both on offense and defense. The game was a runaway right from the start, as Duane White recovered a Roosevelt fumble on the Sawyer 49. Three plays later Steve Ahrens broke away from two tacklers in the secondary and scampered 41 yards to put Saugerties out in front 6-0. The running conversion was no good.

Defense Strong The Sawyer defense was strong all afternoon, limiting Roosevelt to just 8 first downs, only two in the second half. On a fourth and one for Roosevelt at the Sawyer 35, the defense held and the Sawyers took over on downs. The first pass by Holly Carnright was intercepted by Roosevelt but the Saugerties defense was hungry and forced Roosevelt to punt on fourth down. The punt went off the side of the kickers foot and traveled only 10 yards before going out of bounds.

Carnright's Drive On this particular drive from the Saugerties 26, it was the two Carnright boys that engineered the score. Holly to John for 10 yards. Holly rolled out and swept for 11 yards. Holly again on a keeper for 8 yards. Carnright then handed off to his halfback who hit the middle of the Roosevelt line for no gain. Holly then hit brother John for a 12 yard gain, but John fumbled and thanks to Mark Ishkanian's recovery, Saugerties kept the ball.

Roosevelt Gerry Malgieri recovered a fumble for the Sawyers. Eight plays later Saugerties hit pay dirt again on a pass from Carnright to Lynn Whiteford that covered 11 yards. The two point conversion failed and the half ended 20-0.

In the second half the Saugerties defense got even tougher to penetrate. Just before the end of the third period Ray Andreassen tackled Mark Softy in the Roosevelt end zone for two points, making it 22-0. Carnright knowing he had a 22 point lead smartly kept the ball on the ground to use up as much time as possible. He called eight running plays that marched them in for another score. Carnright hit Jim Christiana for the two points and the scoring was completed for the day, 30-0.

Side bars: Holly Carnright mixed 56 plays beautifully, 23 passes and 33 running. Steve Ahrens gained 72 yards on only six carries. Mark Ishkanian carried 12 times for 59 yards and Lynn Whiteford gained 68 yards on 13 attempts. Whiteford shows strong running and ability to find openings. The two Ray's, Andreassen and Teitter played a very strong defensive game. Duane White intercepted two passes and recovered one fumble, while Gerry Malgieri had one of each. This was the Sawyers last home game and they take a 2-4 record with them to Beacon next Saturday.

Pine Bush Clinches UCAL Tie

PINE BUSH Thwarted for three periods by a stubborn Marlboro defense, Pine Bush's frustrated Bushmen struck for two fourth quarter touchdowns to score a 12-0 UCAL victory here Saturday.

a half, with one still to play. Highland's game with Ontario was postponed Saturday because of the death of an Ontario Jayvee player in a game Friday. It will be rescheduled for a later date.

Marlboro's Dukes refused to abide by pre-game speculation and roll over and play dead for the mighty Bushmen. And it wasn't until the fourth quarter that they cracked just enough to give Pine Bush some daylight. An 80 yard drive midway through the fourth quarter gave the league leaders their first touchdown, after Marlboro missed an attempted field goal. A few minutes later, they marched 40 yards, after an interception by Jim Long.

Long picked off Passante's pass at midfield and returned to the Dukes' 40. Seven plays later, Gary Sisco burst through the center of the Duke line for 20 yards and his second touchdown, to make the final score, 12-0.

Sisco's two yard plunge climaxed the 80 yard drive for Pine Bush's first TD. Marlboro made its only real threat late in the third period. With Bruce Partington doing the heavy work, the Dukes marched from their own 45 to the Pine Bush 15. The Bushmen stiffened at that point, stopped Partington for no gain and then dumped him for a loss. Partington tried again and could gain only two yards. He then tried a field goal from the 13, but it was wide. Sisco carried for 27 yards and Richie Alexander for 39 in the big drive.

The Bushmen held a wide edge in the statistics, rolling up 183 yards rushing and 36 passing. The Dukes gained only 59 yards on the ground and none in the air.

Liberty Romps, 63-6

LIBERTY The Redskins of Liberty stayed on the warpath as they scalped the Walkill defense for nine touchdowns and gained a total of 536 yards in a 63-6 victory here Saturday afternoon. Seven of the Redskin touchdowns came on the ground, while the two Kalina's each passed for another. The Redskin scoring was well distributed. Leading the point total was Bruce Rosencrance with 14. Tim Kelly had 12, while Ira Luskin, Dan Yaun and Al Bitjeman each chipped in with eight points. Lee Winters and Scott Kalina tallied six apiece.

The longest run of the day for Liberty was recorded by Tim Kelly who scored on a 61 yard jaunt. Dan Yaun scored on the longest pass play 52 yards which was thrown by Kent Kalina. Scott's younger brother who was substituting for him at quarterback in the fourth quarter.

Liberty posted 13 first downs while Walkill couldn't collect even one. On the passing yardage Liberty held Walkill to a minus four while collecting 116 themselves. The rushing department was no contest either as the Redskins gained 357 on the ground to just 43 for Walkill.

Liberty led 37-0 at halftime and 56-0 before Mack Young picked up a Liberty fumble and ran it 73 yards for the only Walkill score.

The 63 points Saturday brought Liberty's total points for the last four games to 199—an average of just under 50 per game. The Redskins have allowed the opposition only 23, just under 6 per game but quick early season losses to Highland and Pine Bush blew them out of UCAL contention.

Coach Woody Witherwax's squad closes out its UCAL campaign Saturday at New Paltz. Walkill, now 0-6, entertains first place Pine Bush in its finale.

COME AND GET ME — That's what Bill Parete seems to be suggesting to a New Paltz defensive player. Parete didn't make it all the way on this play, but he went over from the six yard line a few plays later. Rondout won over New Paltz, 34-14. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Rondout Rolls Over New Paltz, 34 to 14

STONE RIDGE Rondout Valley High school's football team evened its UCAL league record at 3-3, by dumping New Paltz High 34-14 Saturday afternoon.

The first score came when Bill Parete bolted six yards off tackle capping a 55 yard drive. The conversion failed. The second Gander score came early in the second quarter when Ken Brush heaved a 43 yard touchdown pass to Mike Sullivan. Brush then hit George Wallach for the two point conversion and the Ganders led 14-0.

Fall Runs 70 Yards On the first play after the kickoff, Jim Fall of New Paltz scampered 70 Yards for the touchdown making the score 14-6. The conversion attempt failed. The Ganders came right back capping a 64 yard drive on an 18 yard pass play from Brush to Mike Harris for the score. Mike Alecca tallied the two point conversion and the Ganders went into the locker room at half time with a 22-6 lead.

Alecca Travels 91 Yards Mike Alecca put an end to the idea of New Paltz getting back into the game by sprinting 91 yards on the first play, after Rondout had held New Paltz at its nine yard line. The conversion was no good and the Ganders led 28-6. George Clark capped a 60 yard drive by hitting Dan O'Bryne with a seven yard pass. Brad Hart caught the extra point conversion from Clark and New Paltz had narrowed the Gander lead to 28-14.

Our Man Hoople: Just Fantastic

HOOPLE PARADISE I am in Paradise this proud Monday morning after viewing and calling the biggest upset in the Hudson Valley this season. I picked Saugerties to edge Roosevelt and they not only won but, they dumped the Presidents by a 30-0 score. Haarrumph!

I also called for Pawling to top Red Hook, but the Raiders put on a last quarter spurt to gain a 16-16 tie and was my only downfall this week as I picked "6 for 6" without including the tie. I think I deserve three cheers for the picks this week! Cheer, Cheer, Cheer!

Here were my picks with the predicted score in parenthesis: Saugerties (14) 30, Roosevelt (12) 0; Liberty (52) 63, Walkill (6) 6; Arlington (42) 52, CFMA (6) 6; Poughkeepsie (30) 42, Beacon (12) 0; Rondout (19) 34, New Paltz (7) 14; Pine Bush (20) 12, Marlboro (7) 0; and Pawling (19) 16, Red Hook (6) 16.

I think I will retire for the next three days and sleep off all those spirits gathered by me upon stopping at those ever so thankful Sawyer Inns. It was all my pleasure folks and I'll see you all Friday for more of my unbelievable choices. Szzzzznk! Szzzzznk! Harumph!

Arlington Gains Tie

RHINECLIFF Arlington's fullback Ken Sawyer clinched at least a tie for the Admirals in the battle for the DCSL championship, as he ran for two touchdowns and caught a pass for another in the 52-6 drubbing over Cardinal Farley Military Academy here Saturday afternoon.

This sets the stage for next week's game between Arlington 5-0 and Poughkeepsie 4-1 at the Admirals field. Poughkeepsie will have to beat the Admirals for a tie or the crown will go to Arlington.

Sawyer Stars In addition to his three touchdowns Sawyer led the Admirals ground game with 132 yards in 12 carries. The Admirals led 36-0 before the Cadets could score.

Poughkeepsie Bounces Back Poughkeepsie bounced back from the 26-12 loss to Roosevelt early this week to crush Beacon 42-0. Reserve quarterback Jack Foster playing in place of injured Gary Staudermann threw for three touchdowns and an alert secondary intercepted four times to lead the Pioneers victory. The first score came on a pass interception by Jim Johnson at the Pioneer 34 and raced 66 yards for the touchdown. Jack Foster hit Johnson for another score on a 71 yard pass play.

Gridder Injured COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — Split end Paul Maliska of the University of Florida is in serious condition today after suffering a head injury in the Gators' 38-12 loss to Auburn Saturday.

Maliska, a senior from Winter Park, Fla., collapsed on the side-lines after being injured. Doctors are considering surgery.

Raiders Racked Up by Greg Cook's Tour

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown, wise to the ways of football, has never been accused of being a dreamer. But he might become one after what Greg Cook and Chip Myers did to the Oakland Raiders.

"I couldn't even dream of something like this," Brown said Sunday while basking in the reality of the Bengals 31-17 upset that snapped the Raiders' regular-season unbeaten streak and dropped them out of first place in the American Football League's Western Division.

While Cincinnati, with Cook throwing two touchdown passes to Myers, was upsetting Oakland, the Kansas City Chiefs were beating Buffalo 29-7 to take over first place with 7-1 record compared to Oakland's 6-1-1 mark.

In other AFL action, the New York Jets, 6-2, increased their Eastern Division lead over Houston, 4-4, by edging Miami, 16-1, 34-31, while the Oilers, 4-4, were being upset by Boston, 1-7, 24-0, and Denver, 4-4, shocked San Diego, 4-4, 13-0.

Cincinnati, with Paul Robinson running two yards for a touchdown and Cook hitting Myers for two more, built up a 24-0 halftime lead en route to snapping a four-game losing streak and even its record at 4-4. Daryle Lamonica threw two touchdown passes in the second half, but it was too late for the Raiders who lost the ball on four interceptions and a fumble.

"All I thought about today was beating Oakland," said

Cook, who sat out three of the four losses because of a sore arm. He completed 11 of 19 passes for 189 yards including his scoring strikes of eight and 35 yards to Myers, whose two receptions were double the number he made in the first seven games.

Len Dawson, who missed five games with a knee injury, came off the bench to ignite Kansas City's sputtering offense, and the Chiefs made up a 7-3 halftime deficit. Jan Stenerud added four more field goals and Mike Garrett scored on runs of 34 and four yards. Dan Darragh passed for Buffalo's touchdown.

Don Maynard became the first man in pro football history to gain more than 10,000 yards catching passes and set an AFL record for touchdown receptions in helping the Jets beat Miami. Maynard's 42-yard catch in the first period gave him a record 82 touchdowns and his 25-yard reception in the fourth quarter, which tied the game at 31-31, gave him a total of 10,061 yards. New York's winning points came on Jim Turner's 36-yard field goal which was set up when John Elliott blocked a punt. Bob Griese threw four touchdown passes for Miami, which led 21-10 at halftime, and Joe Namath added a third for the Jets.

Mike Taliaferro hit Ron Sellers with a pair of touchdown passes in Boston's stunning shutout of Houston as the Patriots snapped a nine-game losing streak dating back to last season.

Steve Tensi threw a two-yard touchdown pass to Al Denson and Floyd Little scored on a two-yard run, both in the third quarter, in Denver's upset of San Diego. It was the first shut-out ever for Denver.

My Best-Van

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Obviously this was my best game ever," said Tom Van Arsdale. It was also one of Cincinnati's better ones this year.

The Royals, led by Van Arsdale's career high 41 points—13 of them in the decisive fourth quarter—cooled off the Los Angeles Lakers 124-116 Sunday night.

In the only other game on the abbreviated National Basketball Association schedule, Walt Hazzard's 23 points paced the Atlanta Hawks to their third straight victory, 125-113 over the Seattle SuperSonics. In tonight's only contest, the New York Knicks, runaway leaders in the Eastern Division, visit the second-place Bucks in Milwaukee.

"I was getting the open shots and I wasn't hesitating," said Van Arsdale, a 6-foot-5, four-year veteran from Indiana. "When I had a shot, I'd take it."

He connected on a solid 18 of 27 shots from the floor, hitting on both long, arching outside shots and shot, driving layups. Oscar Robertson backed him up with 22 points while Jerry West pumped in 27 for Los Angeles and Wilt Chamberlain added 25.

It gave Cincinnati only its third victory in 10 games this season. The Royals are last in the East. And it snapped Los Angeles' five-game winning streak and dropped the Lakers, 5-3, into a third-place tie with Chicago in the tightly packed Western Division.

Walt Hazzard contributed 23 points and nine assists in leading Atlanta to its victory over Seattle.

In Saturday's games, Atlanta outlasted Baltimore 140-137 in overtime. New York turned back Milwaukee 112-108. Detroit romped over San Diego 130-113. Boston tripped Philadelphia 131-125 and San Francisco whipped Cincinnati 120-97.

In Sunday's ABA action, Miami defeated New York 103-98 and Kentucky edged Carolina 104-102.

Los Angeles — the Coastal Division leader—became the only team in pro football with a perfect record as it boosted its mark to 7-0 with a 38-6 romp over Atlanta. Minnesota whipped Chicago 31-14 to retain a one-game lead over Green Bay, which edged Pittsburgh 38-34, in the Central Division.

Detroit beat San Francisco 26-14 in the other game. Cleveland stunned Dallas with two touchdowns in the first 6:11 of the game. John Garlington recovered Walt Garrison's fumble on the Dallas 48 and Nelson hit Paul Warfield for a TD on the next play.

Craig Baynham fumbled the next kickoff and Alvin Mitchell recovered on the Dallas 12. Two plays later, Nelsen tossed to

For Nicklaus: Bitter Brew

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS)

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — "I'm just backed off at myself for letting it get into a playoff," Big Jack Nicklaus said today before continuing darkness delayed sudden death playoff for the top prize in the $140,000 Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament.

Nicklaus, who blew a two-stroke lead in the final round, Masters champion George Archer and placid Billy Casper were locked in a playoff for the title after one extra hole of the pre-dent-setting playoff.

The situation, a second day of a sudden-death playoff, has not existed before. It was forced when darkness descended on the Silverado Country Club after those three plus Texas veteran Don January had completed only one playoff hole, the par five 16th, January, who had tied the other with a 72 hole total of 273, was short of the green in three, chipped on and made the putt. The other three ran in long birdie putts. The distances of the putts were in question because, actually, it was too dark to tell.

Casper putted first and made what he called a 20 footer.

Nicklaus putted next. He said his was from 22 feet. Archer agreed — "I thought Jack was away. But it was too dark to tell" — after he sank his 14 footer.

At that point darkness closed in and PGA official Wade Cagle called a halt and said Nicklaus, Casper and Archer would continue the playoff at the 17th hole at 9 a.m. Monday.

Big Jack had a two-stroke lead starting the warm, sunny day and stretched it to three strokes with a beautiful 35-foot birdie putt on the 10th. But he bogeyed the 11th and 13th, each from a trap, and missed potential birdie putts on the 16th and 18th that would have won it. He had a final round 71. Archer, Casper and Nicklaus all are shooting for their third title of the year.

Monticello Drew 50-M '69 Handle

MONTICELLO Monticello Raceway closed its twelfth and longest season Saturday night with the termination of its second experimental program of weekend racing following a meet that totalled 138 regular programs plus 7 double-headers, or afternoon sessions.

Compilation of all the statistics will have to await the post-season reckonings, but there is no doubt that the 1969 meet has shattered several records. Not surprisingly, considering the length of the meet, 1969's Monticello handle exceeds last year's . . . in itself a record breaker. By more than seven million dollars. This year the handle will exceed 50.5 million dollars as contrasted to 1968's 43.4. These, and other numerical comparisons will shortly be issued by the Sullivan oval's efficient publicity staff, headed by Allen Finkelson.

In the meantime, the final feature race of the 1969 season, a trot over the mile carrying a purse of $2,500, was taken in 2:10.3 by Lone Shark, piloted by Don Gillis, for his fifth win this year. The 5-year-old stallion, an offspring of Fisherman by Dauntless Sue has had an enviable in-the-money record for 1969. In 22 times out, his chart reads 5-2-4.

However, all the events this year at the Mighty M. paled in comparison to the nostalgic farewell that was bade to the world's greatest trotter, Nevele Pride, when he was tendered a retirement party, worthy of his rank, on October 17th. The great stallion, whose home base was Monticello Raceway, within a week this year shattered two world's records. . . the time for a mile over a mile track in 1:54.4, contrasted to Greyhound's 31 year mark of 1:55.4; and the time for a mile over a half mile track of 1:56.4, besting Speedy Rodney's record of 1:58.3.

When this truly magnificent animal withdrew to stand at stud at Stoner Creek Stud in Kentucky, the ceremonies at Monticello were of the stuff that memories are made. Those that were fortunate enough to witness them will never forget them.

Last to First—Hawks' Basketball Goal

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

NEW PALTZ
There will be no last place finish for the New Paltz Hawks this year. That's what Sports Information Director Ira Fushfeld's pre-basketball capsule report for State University says. "The loss of New Paltz's Mr. Everything (Pete Kane) certainly isn't going to help matters much, echoes Coach Doug Sheppard, "but the addition of four transfer students and promotion of three members of last year's Fresh team is certainly in our favor." Two of the four transfers will not be eligible until January. Coach Sheppard has six returnees from the 1968-69 squad which won only 7 of 21 games and finished last in the SUNYAC with 2.8 mark, but they make up a formidable nucleus.

Leonardo Top Returnee
Heading the group is Jim Leonardo, 6-1, 185 pound Albany senior, who was second in last year's squad in scoring with a 17.1 average. Kings others are Bob Freer of Kingston, Sam Garafalo, Albany; Oscar Kvelland of Bethpage, L. I.; 6-foot-8 Steve Dane of Old Chatham and Larry Van Fleet of Mt. Upton. Lost by graduation, in addition to Kane, were Jeff Berry, Rich Josephs and Harry Bouvier.

"It's not easy to replace a 20-point scorer like Pete Kane," says Coach Sheppard, "but it is possible and I feel that with desire and the will to win that our 1969-70 squad has shown in scrimmages to date, our objective will be reached."

"We are still smarting over last year's finish in the cellar and of the six games lost by Leonardo appears to have picked up where he left off last year and two of the three Hawks moved up from last year's Fresh should have a banner year."

Transfers Look Good

"Earl Thurner and Richie Gabriel, both from North Babylon, are looking very good," said Sheppard. "The two transfer students, Glenn Kirsch and Bruce Fulgum, are backcourt men and both are capable of starting."

The improvement of Bob Freer and Steve Dane up front is another reason for the high degree of optimism felt by the Hawks for this year's varsity prospects.

The feeling on campus and on the squad is that, if the Mets could go from last to first place, so can the Hawks. The opinion appears unanimous—there will be no last-place finish for the New Paltz Hawks this season.

Starts Ninth Season

Coach Sheppard starts his ninth year at New Paltz with a career record of 72 wins and 104 losses. He has a new assistant, in Silvio Pesavento, who will serve as freshman coach.

The seasonal opener is scheduled Dec. 2 at home against Stony Brook. The team is also scheduled for a southern tour during the Christmas recess, with stops at Southwest Georgia, Florida Presbyterian and St. Leo's in Florida. Another new opponent is Paterson State of New Jersey. The Hawks are also slated in the Christmas

State Booters Cop Thriller

NEW PALTZ
State University's high flying soccer squad rallied from the brink of defeat to edge tough Albany State, 4-3, in double overtime in one of the season's thrillers here Saturday.

The win was the fourth in the last five games for the Hawks with one tie and got them up to the .500 mark with 5 wins, 5 losses and a tie. And set the stage for Tuesday's climactic clash with Bridgeport University.

Bridgeport comes into New Paltz with No. 1 ranking in the New England States. The Nutmeagers have won 9, lost none and tied one.

With eight minutes left to play in regulation, Albany, which stunned the Hawks with two fast first period goals, led 3-1 and the New Paltz cause appeared hopeless.

Then with 8:17 elapsed, Guy

Cassarini got a classic pass from All-America Bob Hippey and rammed the ball home to make it 3-2.

Pleases the Coach

"It was a classic pass," said Coach Bob Durkin of the Hawks. "Hippey threaded a needle on that one."

With 6:38 left to play, Walter Blair, State's inside left, booted the equalizer with an assist from Abdi Yunis. Neither team had a real shot at a goal after that and the game went into overtime.

It was Blair again with the game icer at 4:29 of the first overtime. Unassisted, he moved down the left side and booted it home from about 18 yards out into far corner of the net. Neither team scored in the second overtime.

"It was a great shot," Coach Durkin commented.

A freak shot off the New Paltz's fullback gave Albany a 1-0 lead at 6:01 in the first period. It was scored by Lowder Gavone, an African student, who had virtually no pressure on him. Jim Shear converted a penalty kick at 8:34 after a hand penalty had been called on New Paltz.

Heotmer Scores

Jerry Heotmer cut the margin to 2-1 at 1:45 of the second period from about 12 yards out with a fine assist by Bernie Schaeffer, former Rondout Valley Central ace.

Demitrius Michal of Greece got Albany ahead 3-1 with an assist from Mike Spratt at 10:31 of the third.

"The team did a great job," but they may have been looking past Albany to the Bridgeport game, said Coach Durkin. "We didn't give up and kept heavy pressure on them after the first half."

Hold Clear Edge

New Paltz had a wide margin in the statistical chart. The Hawks got off 51 shots at the goal to only 11 for Albany (only 7 in the first half).

Hawks led in corner kicks, 13-2, and goalie Bob Sanborn had to make only four saves as compared with 19 for Terry Jordan of Albany.

"Jordan did a tremendous job at the nets," said Coach Durkin. "It could have been an avalanche, but he held up well."

The lineups:

Kickers Rained Out; Greeks, Ukes in Lead

MORGAN HILL
A steady rain washed out the scheduled German-American Soccer Association game between Kingston Sport Club and the New York Hungarians here Sunday.

The game official arrived early in the morning, but refused to permit the game to be played because of the steady downpour. The Hungarian team was headed off before it left New York City.

The metropolitan area teams completed their games in steady rain and drizzle.

Greek-Americans rebounded from their first loss of the season to edge Blau Weiss Gottschee, 2 to 1, to hold a 3-point lead runnerup New York Hota in the Southern Division of the Major League. Hota kept pace with a 3-1 decision over Eintracht.

Other results were: German-Hungarians 3, Hellenic 0; Ukrainians 2, Elizabeth 1; Inter-Guiliana 5, Blue Star 1. New York Ukrainians replaced Elizabeth Sport Club in the Southern Division by one point, as they defeated Elizabeth.

Point standings in the two divisions after Sunday's games are:

(Northern Division)
Greek-Americans 13, New York Hota 10, New York Hungarians 7, Inter-Guiliana 7, Blau Weiss Gottschee 3, Eintracht 5.
(Southern Division)
New York Ukrainians 11, Elizabeth 10, German-Hungarians 9, Hellenic 6, Blue Star 3, Kingston 2.

Two-Way Tie in YMCA "A" Loop

KINGSTON
Spartan Pools trounced Ray Chevrolet, 101-73, and Bernard's Raiders thumped Jack's Barber Shop, 100-64, to stay in the race for first place in the YMCA "A" basketball league title. They have 4-1 records.

Frank Horne (26) and Marshall Berry (25) paced Spartans to nullify a 33-point effort by Joe Uhl of Ray's.

Warren Gritman potted 27 points for the Raiders and Eddie Burns led Jack's with 25.

The scores:
Spartan Pools (101)—Derrenbacher 11, Horne 26, Flowers 16, Berry 25, Marshall 19, Perry.

Ray Chevrolet (73)—Uhl 33, Williams 14, Massa 6, Bondar 16, Pratt 1, Carpouzis 3.

Jack's Barber Shop (64)—Burns 25, Tomaseskie 7, Cantor 5, Horton 9, Crantz 8, Polhemus 10.

Bernard's Raiders (100)—Hawkins 16, Lindhorst 16, Bernard 7, Gritman 27, Greiner 17, Keenan 13, Taures 4.

Rangers Gain Tie for First

NEW YORK (UPI)—Vic Hadfield completed his first hat-trick of the season by scoring two goals in the final period to give the New York Rangers, a 6-4 victory over the St. Louis Blues.

The victory moved New York into a tie for the East Division lead with Boston, which tied Toronto 4-4 Sunday night.

Hadfield's third goal of the game and eighth of the season gave the Rangers a 5-4 lead with less than four minutes to play and Walt Tkaczuk's second goal of the game at 17:53 iced the victory for the Rangers.

Meanwhile Gordie Howe was at it again.

Hockey's all-time scoring champion fired three goals for his 19th career hat-trick, leading the Detroit Red Wings to a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Penguins.

Howe had a chance for a four-goal night, one of the few things he hasn't achieved in his 24-year National Hockey League career. The Penguins pulled their goalie in the final seconds and Howe broke toward the empty net with the puck. But he passed instead to linemate Frank Mahovick, whose shot was turned aside by back-checking Dean Prentice.

The standings:

	EAST	WEST
Boston	6 2 2 11 33 27	6 2 2 11 33 27

Hawk Harriers Notch Double

CAMDEN, CONN.
Jim Longo led the State University's cross-country squad to a double win in a triangular meet with Fairfield and Sacred Heart here Saturday afternoon. Longo fell just 19 seconds short of the 5.1 mile course layouts record but, did run the fastest time on the course over the last two years.

Longo was backed up by Paul Spadaro who took third place with a time of 28:39 and Jim Borden finished fourth with a time of 28:51. Larry Levitz came home in 29:34 for sixth place and 19 seconds behind him in seventh place was Jim Munz. John Brugel finished ninth and Bob Cunningham tenth for the Hawks.

"Again the boys ran well as a team and it evened our record at 5-5 for the season. I am pleased with the showing of the team as we got a lot of help from Spadaro, Brugel and Levitz in the scoring. In all the meets that New Paltz won this year Jim Longo took first place, so you can see how he will be missed next year. Jim Borden the boy that we have to throw water on while he runs, because he has no sweat glands will also be greatly missed, he was a big pointscorer for us. "were the comments of coach Ed Bell of the Hawks.

Drought Is Over

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—At long last, the drought is over.

Marshall University snapped a 27-game losing streak Saturday when the Thundering Herd took advantage of early opportunities to upset Bowling Green 21-16.

Whitworth Wins On Final Green

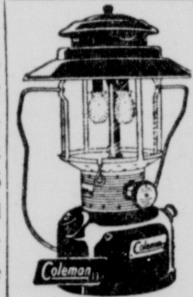

CONROE, Tex. (AP)—Kathy Whitworth overtook leader Betty Rawls on the 54th and final hole Sunday to win the River Plantation Women's Open.

Miss Rawls had a one-stroke lead going into the 18th. The two women, playing in the same set, both got on the green in three strokes.

Miss Rawls, about 20 feet from the pin, missed her putt by about 2½ feet, with Miss Whitworth sinking her eight-foot putt for the birdie on the par 5 hole. Miss Rawls then missed her next shot and bogeyed the hole, giving Miss Whitworth the championship.

The win gave the River Plantation defending champion $2,626 and her seventh victory this year on the Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour. This was the tour's final tournament, and the coldest, weather-wise, in the tall piney woods of East Texas.

Miss Whitworth also over-takes Mickey Wright as the LPGA's overall money winner by $807. She now has won $268,974. Miss Wright withdrew after Friday's opening round because of a wrist injury.

Dear Abby

To Art Linkletter...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ART LINKLETTER:

The world grieves with you and Mrs. Linkletter over the loss of your beautiful 20-year-old daughter who jumped to death while under the influence of LSD.

You showed tremendous unselfishness in keeping nothing from the public. This you did in the hope that your personal tragedy would save other young lives... the all was lost for your Diane.

While I know how painful it must be for you to discuss it, we will please answer one question, Art? did Diane smoke marijuana before experimenting with LSD? Over 50 million people read me daily. If one word from you saves just one young life it will be well worth printing. Love and Kisses.

DEAR ABBY: Diane did not smoke marijuana. In fact, she neither drank nor smoked. Diane had not used LSD for at least five months before that fatal night. Being a highly strung emotional girl, the effects of her initial experiment with LSD could not be shaken off. Young people do not know the recurrent reactions of LSD are totally unpredictable. We did not know that there had been any recurrences, so you can imagine what a shock it was to us. Mrs. Linkletter and I are slowly coming back and healing. Love and kisses.

ART DEAR ABBY: Stamped across this letter is the word "CENSORED" which requires some sort of explanation from me.

I am not an inmate of a mental institution. I am an inmate of a PENAL institution. I am serving an 18-year sentence for GRAND LARCENY. I do not say that proudly, but I just wanted you to know that I am not guilty of rape or murder or any other violent crime.

My problem is that I have entered a short story in a creative writer's contest, and if I should win I'll be expected to appear to accept the prize. Obviously that will not be possible. What do you suggest? TIME ON MY HANDS DEAR TIME: I suggest that you meet that problem when — and if it becomes a reality.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please offer a workable solution to an "in-law" problem which I have observed to be a stumbling block to many.

When young men and women date, they quite normally address their dates' parents as "Mr. and Mrs." so and so.

After the couple marries, they can no longer address their in-laws in this manner.

Since this has not been discussed before marriage, many young marrieds do not call their in-laws anything, leaving their elders feeling like complete nonentities. I have seen the hurt and disgust that this namelessness has caused. Understandably, many young people feel a disloyalty to their own parents calling their new in-laws "Mother and Dad."

But the real dilemma comes when the first grandchild arrives. The nameless parents suddenly become "Grandma and Grandpa" — an endearing term when it comes from the lips of the grandchild, but NOT at all endearing when it comes from the in-law children. (More than one in-law has commented, "He is not MY grandchild, so why does he call me that?") Yet, the elders cannot seem to bring themselves to voice their objection to the practice, and the situation is left as an unresolved and growing source of irritation. What is your solution?

OBSERVER DEAR OBSERVER: Elementary! When a couple decides to marry, if the parents do not say, "Call us 'Joe and Mary,' or 'Mom and Pop,' or 'Mother Minnie and Poppa Max,'" the young people should ask, "What would you like us to call you?"

CONFIDENTIAL TO BOB E.: Don't wait to know her better before you kiss her. Kiss her and you'll know her better.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NEW START? (Q) I really loved this girl, but I was mean to her. We had it out one night and it was all over. At the time I was glad, at now I want her back.

She acts really weird. Sometimes she's friendly, most of the time she's not. Once I asked her for a date, but she gave me a sarcastic answer and walked away. Do you think I'll ever get her back?—No Name or Address, Please.

(A.) Girls hurt easier than boys, and it usually takes them longer to get over the pain.

If you are truly sorry, if you let her know you are, and if you prove by your actions that you are, she may be able to overcome the pain and be your girl again—but on a new basis.

If you just want her back so you can be mean to her again, you are wasting your time.

Decide which of the two "ifs" is correct. If it's the first one, apologize to her and start treating her the way a girl wants and deserves to be treated.

LOST RING? (Q) When my boy friend and I started going together four months ago, I gave him my ring. Well, last week I found out he'd lost it. It was a ring my mom gave me for my birthday. I'd wanted it for five years. How can I tell him he has to buy me a new one? If my mom finds out it's lost she'll be mad at both of us.—K.D. in Livonia, Mich.

(A.) When you give a boy a ring, you take a chance he'll lose it. You can't demand that your friend buy a replacement, but you can suggest it. If he wants to, and can afford it, fine. If not, just tell your mother the truth. You might ask yourself, too, how much a boy who loses your ring cares for you.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402 Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

Quick Quiz

Q — How many widowers stretching for more than 1,500 were elected to the U.S. miles.

A — Two — Thomas Jefferson and Martin Van Buren.

Q — How many constellations are there?

A — There are 88 constellations now recognized in modern astronomy. Only 48 were known to the ancients.

Q — What is the longest fortified line ever built?

A — The Great Wall of China.

"Seeing the state the world is in, I'm not as bothered about where we came from as where the heck we're going."

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR It's In The Stars

(The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.)

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY NOVEMBER 4, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Events slow to a less hectic pace. But there remain opportunities for changes, self-expression. Accent is on work, health and how you relate to close associates. Communicate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Good lunar aspect today coincides with romance, creativity, dealings with young persons. Much pleasure indicated. But you don't have to be extravagant. Know this — act accordingly.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Combine imagination with practicality. You know what you want — go after it. Be a self-starter. Some well-meaning persons simply are not aware of all factors involved.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): More freedom of thought, action indicated. Day accents visits, dealings with close relatives. Study investments possibilities. Helping someone get on his feet could be aiding yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Spotlight on how you handle financial affairs. You can spread influence. You can help those who aided you in past. Most important, you can find what has been missing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Cycle high: take initiative. Stress independence of thought, action. Fight tendency to be timid. Be confident. Make contacts. Ask for what you need.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Much depends upon your hunch, intuition. Do what you know is right. Many activities apt to be surrounded by secrecy. Be discreet. That is road to success today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 21): Accent on hopes, desires. Relief from pressure indicated. Your influence spreads. You can write, advertise. Many, even at a distance, are concerned with what you say, do.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Emphasis on career, ambitions. You are able to make significant advance. Prestige rises — and so does standing in community, profession. Be aware of subtle nuances.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Accent on what is at a distance. Key is to keep up with correspondence. Return calls, answer messages. Be considerate of one who is in a quandary. Offer aid. You will be repaid.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Financial aspects of partnership, unique association are highlighted. Gifts, spending could be involved. Strive toward maturity. Avoid the superficial.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): accent on marriage, special relationship. Cycle is such that you should do more listening than talking. Be observant. Learn and prepare. Fight tendency to be impatient.

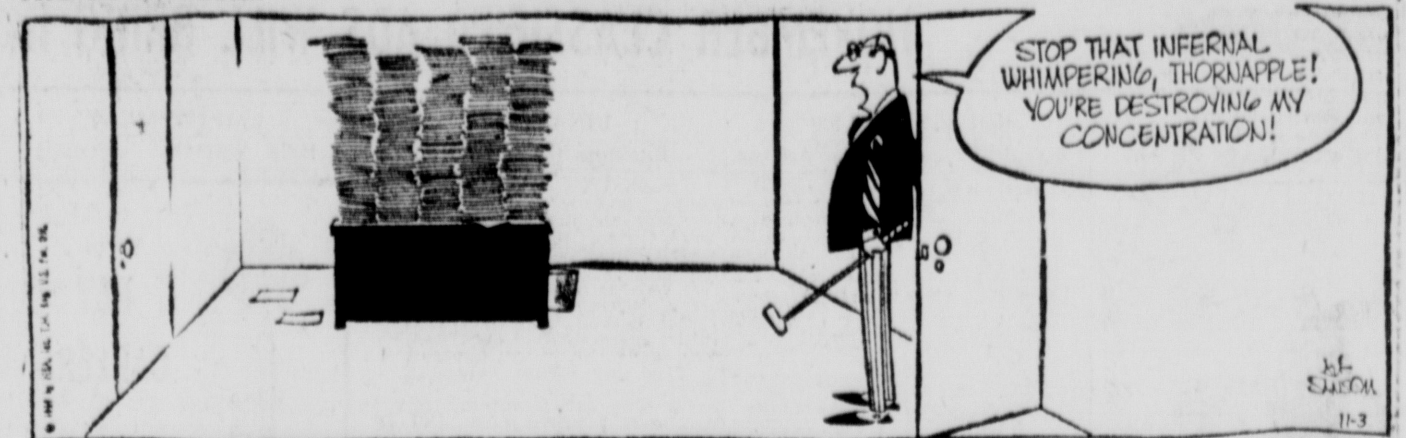

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are frank — too much so for the taste of some persons. But it is important to be yourself. A change in home environment indicated this month.

APPRECIATION — Capt. Donald Cook, pilot of the airliner hijacked to Rome by Raffaele Minichiello, shakes hands with the Chief of the Rome Airport Police, Pietro Guli, on Saturday. Guli volunteered to drive the hijacker away from the plane. Hostess Tracy Coleman (R) and other crew members also express their appreciation to Guli for his role in the drama. (UPI RADIOPHOTO).

Moves Stiffen Italy's Stand Against Giving Up Skyjacker

ROME (UPI)—Rome's Assistant prosecutor said today he has filed five charges against Lance Cpl. Raffaele Minichiello in Italy's legal tug-of-war with the United States over who will try the young hijacker.

Massimo Carli's legal maneuvers after a two-hour meeting with the 20-year-old, Naples-born man Sunday stiffened Italy's stand against turning him over to the United States.

Carli said he would interrogate Minichiello again this afternoon, a meeting that could produce even more charges against the Marine who staged history's longest air hijacking. He is wanted in the United States on charges of kidnapping and air piracy. Maximum penalty on conviction of the piracy charge is death.

Carli said the charges against him in Italy are kidnapping, private violence, bringing weapons of war into Italy, possessing them illegally and carrying them illegally.

American Embassy officials said they were in "very, very close" touch with the Italian government on the matter but refused to comment further on their attempts to get Rome's permission to ship him home for trial.

Minichiello was captured Saturday, 23 hours after he began an air piracy adventure that leapfrogged from California to Denver to New York City

Nixon Policies On the Line

By United Press International

President Nixon was elected one year ago. Off-year elections Tuesday may give a small indication how well his policies have been accepted in the Northeast and the South.

Attention will be focused on gubernatorial elections in New Jersey and Virginia for indications of the President's success.

Nixon personally campaigned in New Jersey for Rep. William T. Cahill and in Virginia for A. Linwood Holton, rated as having the best chance of any Republican in the past century of winning the governorship of the Old Dominion. He was a key Nixon campaign aide last year.

Former Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner is Cahill's opponent in what should be a close race. The campaign has been marked by personal attacks and vituperation.

Democrat William C. Battle is rated a slight favorite in the Virginia governor's race, which has five candidates. This election should show if the GOP is continuing to make inroads in an area long dominated by Democrats. Holton is rated a close second by observers.

Of the mayoral elections to be held Tuesday, the key ones are in New York, Cleveland and Detroit.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, repudiated by the GOP in New York City, is seeking re-election on the Liberal and Independent ticket. Usually accurate polls indicate he has recovered from an unpopular beginning and now holds a comfortable lead over Democrat Mario A. Procaccino and Republican Conservative John J. Marchi, a state legislature.

Cleveland Democrat Carl B. Stokes, the first Negro elected mayor of a major U.S. city, faces white Republican Ralph J. Perk in his bid for re-election. Both insist race is not an issue, but 90 per cent of the city's electorate was expected to vote on racial lines.

Detroit's mayoral election pits Wayne County Auditor Richard Austin, a Negro, against Sheriff Roman Gribbs, a white. For many of the voters, the election issues are simply black and white in the nonpartisan contest.

Austin has picked up support of some liberal Republicans and the giant United Auto Workers Union, while Gribbs has garnered Republican and business support.

Contemptuous Cuban Treatment

6 Hijackers Prefer U.S.

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Contemptuous treatment by the Cuban government was cited today as a probable reason why six Americans elected to come home and risk the death penalty on charges of separate hijackings of airplanes to Cuba.

"I'm sure he'll tell us there was no utopia at the other end," said George Bohle of Michigan City, Ind., father of Ronald T. Bohle, one of the men who gave themselves up at the Canadian border Sunday.

"I think he was incarcerated quite frequently," said James Boynton of Kalamazoo, Mich., who told newsmen disenchanted with the one-time "Pearl of the Antilles" had been expressed in letters from his son, Thomas, one of the returnees. The younger Boynton had stuck it out for longer than any of the others—just over 20 months.

The State Department said all six returned of their own volition and not as the result of any negotiations with the Fidel Castro regime.

All were jailed in lieu of bail ranging from $10,000 to $250,000 under the federal air piracy law, which provides a maximum penalty of death. Each faces trial in the area where he seized a plane.

One of them, Thomas George Washington of Gary, Ind., was accompanied by his 4-year-old daughter, who flew with him to Cuba last December. She had a joyful reunion with her mother, "Mommy! Mommy!" the youngster cried as she ran to meet her mother. The two later returned to the mother's home in Philadelphia.

Boynton said his son, who has a master's degree in sociology, "had to do kinds of work he wasn't used to—common laboring."

There have been about 90 airplane hijackings from the United States to Cuba since 1961. Many of the hijackers were Cuban, but one State Department estimate puts the number of Americans still in that country after forcing flights to Havana at nearly 40.

The six who came back Sunday sailed from Cuba Oct. 24 in the Cuban freighter Luis Arces Bergnes. They arrived in Montreal Saturday night and Canadian authorities took them to the border, where they were turned over to U.S. officials.

Washington, a Negro, was charged with commandeering an Eastern Airlines Philadelphia-Miami flight near Jacksonville, Fla., on Dec. 19, 1968, after flashing a pistol.

He told newsmen in Cuba later he "wanted to save my daughter from some of the hatred and viciousness that is perpetrated in the United States."

The others were identified as:—Raymond Anthony Sr., 55, of Baltimore, an unemployed auto salesman. Charged with hijacking an Eastern Airlines plane with 104 aboard enroute from Baltimore to Miami last June 28.

—Ronald Thomas Bohle, 22, of Michigan City, Ind., a dropout from Purdue University. Charged with hijacking a 72-passenger Eastern jet flying from Miami to Nassau on Jan. 9.

—Robert Lee Sandlin, also known as Bobby Sandlin and A. Vollis of Vernon, Tex., about 25. Charged with hijacking a Delta Airlines flight bound to Augusta from Atlanta on March 17.

—Thomas J. Boynton Jr., 32, an assistant professor at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Mich. The FBI said he was a former Job Corps employee who forced the pilot of a Twin Piper Apache to fly from Marathon, Fla., to Cuba on Feb. 17, 1968.

—Joseph C. Crawford, 28, a native of St. Simons Island, Ga.
